LIGHT RATE BILL WILL GO TO VOTE AGAIN IN HOUSE

Delegate Igoe to Move for Reconsideration, Following the Precipitate Departure of Eigel and Duing Without Going on Record on the Measure.

THREE WHO FAVOR IT WERE MISSING

Full Attendance of Members Who Are for Measure Reducing Price to 9½ Cents Per Kilowatt Would Insure Passage at Next Session.

The vote by which the bill reducing electric light rates was defeated in the House of Delegates Friday night will be reconsidered next Tuesday night. Delegate William L. Igoe, who voted for the bill Friday night, changed his vote, when he saw it was going to be defeated, so that he could move at the next meeting for reconsideration. The bill was recommended by the Public Service Commission and fixes the maximum electric light rate at 9½ cents a kilowatt hour.

Delegate George Eigel, who left the House of Delegates chamber when the bill was called up for passage, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday that he was opposed to it.

"I was sick and had to retire from the chamber," said Eigel. "But I am against the bill, and would have voted against it if I had been able to answer the roll call."

Departs During Rollcall.

Herman Duing also left the House in a great hurry when the bill was put on its passage. He edged his way to the cloak room, got his coat and hat and cast one glance back. Clerk Findlay was calling the roll, but Duing got away before his name was reached.

The bill would have been passed if Delegates Hamilton, Ellers and Holliday, who are known to be for it, had been in their seats.

The other absentees were Delegates Obelm, Chapman, Paule and Tirre. Speaker Rombauer was excused from voting. The vote showed 14 delegates for the bill and four against it.

Delegate Paule, who is now a candidate for the City Council on the Republican ticket, called up the House of Delegates before the meeting and inquired what important measures were coming up. He was told, according to Assistant Clerk Corbett, to whom he talked, that the electric light bill was to be put on its passage. When asked why he did not go to the meeting Paule said Saturday to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"I am sorry I did not attend. I was down and out Friday night, and went to bed about 8 o'clock. I had been working until midnight all week, and was almost sick. I am in favor of the light bill, and if it is called up again I will try to be there to vote for its passage."

Jacobs Makes Objections.

The only objections raised against the bill were those expressed by Delegate Jacobs. He declared that the price fixed by the Public Service Commission was unfair.

"I don't believe in jumping on this corporation just because it is supposed to have a lot of money," Jacobs shouted.

When Delegate Igoe requested Jacobs to name the particulars in which the bill's provisions are unjust and suggest amendments, Jacobs refused to accept the offer.

"I'm not making suggestions tonight," he replied.

Those who supported the measure are: Delegates Buder, Gregory, Hildenbrandt, Hilkerbaumer, Igoe, Koch, Mischel, Rower, Russell, Samuel, Speltel, Soy, Taussig and Walker. Rower is a Republican candidate for the City Council.

Opposing the bill openly, besides Jacobs, were Delegates Gallagher, Brennan and Golden.

Rombauer Is Excused.

Speaker Rombauer was excused from voting. Before the bill was introduced he gave notice that because of his participation as attorney in a suit against the Union company, he would not vote either for or against the measure.

More trouble awaits the bill in the Council, if it ever gets that far along in its career. Councilman Schneiderhahn has announced that he intends to amend it in several respects. This would necessitate its return to the House of Delegates and if not insuring its defeat, at least would prevent its passage in the short time left before the Assembly's final adjournment.

Jostled by Stranger, Lost $9.50.

An awkward stranger stepped on the feet of William H. Albrecht so many times while the latter was homeward bound on a Grand avenue car Friday night that Albrecht would have become angry but for the fact that the stranger was so apologetic. He begged pardon each time. When Albrecht reached his home, 4805 Allemania avenue, he missed $9.50 from his trousers pocket.

KITTY GORDON TO WED AN AUSTRIAN NOBLEMAN

KITTY GORDON.

NEW YORK, March 18. KITTY GORDON, the actress, who was Mrs. Beresford, and related to Lord and Lady Decies, will marry Count Maurice Fries of Austria, member of the London Stock Exchange. It was announced here today. The marriage will take place in June.

The Count long has been an admirer of Miss Gordon. He is the son of a territorial magnate in Austria and is about 35 years old. He is the heir to some wealth, and his family is high in Austrian society.

COURT ALLOWS $7500 YEARLY TO GIRL OF 14

Georgette A. Madill's Curator Her Expenses Require That Much Annually.

Georgette A. Madill, 14 years old, of 4140 Lindell boulevard, is to have $7500 a year for her personal expenses while she is going to school, traveling around, enjoying vacations and so on. An order was issued by Probate Judge Holtcamp Saturday, on the application of her stepfather, Edward S. Robert, who is also her curator, authorizing him to expend that much on her every year.

Georgette is the daughter of Judge George A. Madill, who died about ten years ago, leaving a large estate. Her mother is now the wife of Robert. Mrs. Robert proposed her husband as curator for the child.

Georgette's direct interest in the estate, according to the application for the allowance, is $50,000, which, under the provisions of the will, is in trust with the St. Louis Union Trust Co. Her income from it is $17,500 a year.

88,498 DIE FROM PLAGUE IN A MONTH

Disease in India Gains Such a Hold That Efforts to Combat It Are Useless.

LONDON, March 18.—During the month of February the deaths from the plague in India reached the enormous total of 88,498.

The disease has become such a fixture in that country that its ravages are little heard of except through occasional official statistics.

The British India office reports that the epidemic was particularly violent this year and adds that the most persistent efforts to stamp it out have failed to effect a permanent improvement in the situation.

Snake Joke Is Fatal.

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., March 18.—While celebrating St. Patrick's day with practical jokes on his friends, Joseph Durks slipped a green rubber snake into the hands of Mike J. Josephs, his cousin, which so shocked Joseph's weak heart that he died.

HOSPITAL DOCTOR FEARS EPIDEMIC OF MENINGITIS

City Has Received 3 Cases Since Monday, One Dies, One Not Expected to Live.

BAD AIR IS A CAUSE

Symptoms Are Said to Be Severe Headaches, Stiff Neck and Pains in the Back.

Three cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis have been received at the City Hospital since Monday. One patient has died and another is not expected to recover. In the previous two years only two cases were treated at the hospital. Dr. Walter Hewitt, the superintendent, fears an epidemic.

Jacob Ritter, 18 years old, of 4000 California avenue, was received Monday. He had fallen unconscious and was thought to have been poisoned, but the hospital physicians recognized the meningitis symptoms and verified the diagnosis with tests.

16 Bottles of Serum Used.

Sixteen bottles of the Flexner serum have been injected into his spine. The treatment is expensive, but has been effective, and he is expected to recover.

Paul Biddle, 20 years old, a tobacco worker, living at 4223 Folsom avenue, was received Wednesday. The disease had progressed so far that it did not respond to treatment and he died Friday.

Saturday morning Spiros Voultros was taken sick at Union Station and sent to the hospital. He was unconscious when received there and his recovery is in doubt.

Dr. Hewitt says persons who are employed in stuffy, ill-ventilated places contract the disease. The first symptoms are severe headaches, stiffness of the neck and pains in the back.

Disease Usually Fatal.

Dr. Hewitt said: "The fact that we have had three cases within a week, when we usually do not have more than three or four in a year, leads me to fear that we may have an epidemic. Two years ago there were 15 cases at one time.

"The disease is infectious. It is contracted in breathing. Fresh air is its natural enemy. Persons who spend much of their time in impure atmosphere are most liable to contract it. The first symptoms are severe headache, pain in the neck and pain in the back. It runs a rapid course, unconsciousness occurring within a few hours, and unless the serum treatment is promptly applied soon ends in death."

PROPHET HICKS IS ROBBED ON A CAR

Long Distance Weather Forecaster Loses Purse to Four Men Who Jostled Him.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks, who can see a storm a year in advance, was unable Saturday to forecast the intentions of a pickpocket who stood next to him on an Olive street car. His lack of foresight in this particular instance cost him $229.

Dr. Hicks got on a west-bound car at Broadway at 10:30 a. m. He was standing on the rear platform, when he felt himself jostled by four men who stood next to him. Their actions aroused his suspicion that there might be a storm brewing in his immediate neighborhood. When the four men jumped off between Sixth and Seventh streets, Dr. Hicks felt for his purse.

It was gone. Dr. Hicks, in a tornado of excitement, whirled off the car and told Policeman Mulcahey about being robbed. He said the men were between 20 and 30 years old, with red faces and wore black overcoats and black derby hats.

WIFE KILLS HER HUSBAND THINKING HE IS A BURGLAR

Chicago Woman at First Told Police She Didn't Know How He Met His Death.

LATER ADMITS MISTAKE

Mrs. Schenk Declares She Saw a Man Move, and Pistol She Carried Was Discharged.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 18.—John Schenk, superintendent of the Park Ridge branch of the Northwestern Gas Light and Coke Co., was found shot to death early today in his home in Park Ridge, a suburb, and the police announced several hours later, after Mrs. Schenk had recovered from hysteria, that the wife had admitted she shot her husband, mistaking him for a burglar.

When police arrived at the house, Mrs. Schenk was hysterical and required medical attention before she could make a coherent statement. At first she said she did not know who fired the two shots which entered her husband's body, but after becoming calmer, is reported by the police to have said:

"I had retired, after being up late to an entertainment, and was awakened by the sound of someone in the house. I was too frightened to call out, but went to see what it was, carrying a revolver. I saw a man move and I don't know how the gun became discharged. Then when I called to Schenk and he did not answer, a suspicion came over my mind, and I found I had killed him. It was a horrible mistake, as we always have been very happy."

LAMBERT OFFERS 4 BALLOONS TO N. G. M.

Gas Bags Would Be Used by Aeronautic Corps if Sent to Mexican Border.

President Lambert of the Aero Club of St. Louis wired to Adjutant-General Rumbold of the National Guard of Missouri, Jefferson City, Saturday, offering the use of the club's four balloons to the Aeronautic Corps in the event it is sent to the Mexican border.

The recent orders that all departments of the National Guard be recruited to their full strength has convinced militia officers here that the National Guard eventually will be called to the border. The Aeronautic Corps is the only department of the Guard without a proper equipment, as the United States War Department's interest in this department has been a practical interest only the last month.

The four balloons offered by President Lambert are the St. Louis III and the St. Louis IV, 80,000 cubic-foot balloons, the Missouri 40,000 and the Million Population Club balloon of 80,000.

CLOUDY SUNDAY IS THE FORECAST FOR OUR DAY OF REST

THE TEMPERATURES.

1 a. m.	40	11 a. m.	36
7 a. m.	30	12 (noon)	38
8 a. m.	32	1 p. m.	41
9 a. m.	33	2 p. m.	43
10 a. m.	34

Yesterday's Temperatures.
Highest .....66 at 2 p. m.
Lowest .....34 at 3 a. m.

Cloudy weather, with a threat of rain, will give backsliders an excuse for not attending church Sunday. There is a big storm over Northeastern Texas and Southern Arkansas, and it is headed directly toward St. Louis.

It is the weather forecaster's guess that the storm will miss St. Louis and pass to the east of us, but it may not get sidetracked. In all events, there will be cloudy weather, he says, and possibly rain.

It will not be cold Sunday, and if the storm should be dissipated on its way north the day will be balmy.

Official forecast: Fair and warmer tonight; lowest temperature tonight about 35 degrees above zero; Sunday cloudy.

Stage of the river: 10.1 feet; a fall of .6 of a foot.

Missouri—Fair tonight, probably becoming unsettled Sunday; warmer tonight.
Illinois—Fair tonight, probably becoming unsettled Sunday; warmer in north and west portions tonight and in south portion Sunday.

Harvard Dormitory to Be Repaired.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 18.—The burned wing of Randolph Hall, the Harvard dormitory, which was damaged by fire this week, will be repaired at once and may be ready for occupancy before class day.

SUNDAY LID ON GROCERY STORES IS HELD INVALID

Test Case Decision Is That Ordinance Conflicts With State Law and Burdens Poor.

RETAIL STORES MAY OPEN

Defendant in Case Before Judge Falkenhainer Sold Ten Cents Worth of Pig's Feet.

The city ordinance providing that grocery stores must close at 9 a. m. on Sunday was declared invalid Saturday by Judge Falkenhainer in the Court of Criminal Correction. In the decision it is held that the ordinance conflicts with the State laws and is a burden on the poorer classes, who cannot afford to buy perishable provisions and keep them over Sunday.

Herman Bernhard, who has a delicatessen at 3141 South Grand avenue, was discharged by Judge Falkenhainer on a charge of violating the city ordinance by selling groceries on Sunday. This was a test case arranged by the Retail Merchants' Association to test the validity of the closing law.

In demanding that grocery stores be allowed to open on Sundays, the association declared that the city ordinance was unconstitutional because it conflicted with the State laws, which exclude the necessities of life from the rigid provisions ordering other stores to close. They also made the sentimental plea that the ordinance was felt by the poorer classes, who could not afford iceboxes to keep food overnight.

Bernhard sold 10 cents' worth of pigs' feet to William Hammer, 3733 Juniata street, Nov. 13. The case was tried before Judge Kleiber on an agreed statement of facts, and Bernard was discharged.

The case was appealed, and has been pending in the Court of Criminal Correction since Jan. 16.

GIRL FINDS OLD REVOLVER, DROPS IT, IS WOUNDED

Miss Eleanora Frank Victim of Peculiar Accident While Cleaning the Kitchen.

Miss Eleanora Frank, aged 18, daughter of Gottlieb Frank, was seriously wounded in the side Saturday morning by the discharge of a rusty revolver that she accidentally dropped on the floor at her home, 2128 Stansbury street.

Miss Frank was cleaning the kitchen, while her mother was at work in the parlor. She took from a cupboard a box containing odds and ends, among them the old revolver. She took it from the box and was looking at it when it fell from her hands to the floor. It struck one the hammer and was discharged, the bullet passing through Miss Frank's side.

Mrs. Frank found her lying on the floor with the old revolver beside her and the circumstances led the police to think that the girl had attempted to kill herself, until she was able to tell how it had happened.

Dr. Drescher of 2154 Stansbury avenue, who administered temporary treatment, said that Miss Frank would recover.

PROMOTER SUES J. I. BEGGS' CONCERN

H. F. Vogel Alleges $15,796 Is Due to Him for St. Louis Car Co. Work.

H. F. Vogel, former vice-president of the St. Louis Car Co., filed suit against the company Saturday for $15,796 for services during the recent reorganization.

Vogel alleges that he was directed by the former president of the company, George J. Kobusch, to induce creditors to take preferred stock in the reorganization plan.

After the reorganization was accomplished by the election of John I. Beggs as president, Vogel alleges, Beggs refused to pay the commissions due under the agreement with Kobusch.

DR. WALKER COMES TO HAREM SKIRT DEFENSE

Improvement Over Hobble, She Asserts, and Approaches Her Ideal in Dress.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 18.—"The so-called harem skirt is an improvement on the hobble skirt," says Dr. Mary Walker, who is in Albany today, "and the hobble was an advance on the style that went before.

"Both styles," she asserts, "are an approach to the dress I have advocated for years, namely peg top trousers and a frock coat."

WHERE IS WALNUT STREET? CHIEFS KNOW, CAN'T TELL

Man in Salt Lake Wants Answer by Wire but How to Write It Is a Puzzle.

Out in Salt Lake City a man wants to know where Walnut street, St. Louis, is. He telegraphed to police headquarters Friday night, asking information by wire, at his expense. His telegram read: "Where is Walnut street?" and was signed "F. R. McKenna."

The police officials are perfectly willing to tell where Walnut street is. It has been there a long time and there's no secret about it. But they don't know how to tell the man out in Salt Lake City.

The telegram was delivered to Night Chief Gillaspy. "Why, certainly, that's easy," said the Night Chief, as he started to write the answer. But he did not write it. He gave it up and passed it on to Chief Young. It is the same with Chief Young. He knows the answer, but he does not know how to write it.

If he tells the Salt Lake City man that Walnut street is a block south of Market street, the man will want to know where Market street is, and if he wires that it is a block north of Elm street the man will want to know where Elm street is. A map would help but you can't wire a map, and the man is in a hurry.

So the Chief thinks he will tell the man that Walnut street is on Walnut street and let it go at that.

GIVES AWAY FORTUNE BEFORE HER WEDDING

Mrs. Barney's Young Husband Wants to Prove He Did Not Marry for Money.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, March 18.—Mrs. Alice P. Barney, widow of Albert Clifford Barney, the Ohio banker, has transferred to her two daughters, Natalie and Laura, the $3,000,000 she inherited from her husband.

This step is taken, it is announced, at the request of young Christian Hemmick of Washington, to whom Mrs. Barney is to be married in Paris the latter part of April. Hemmick, who is a son of Ronald Hemmick, former United States Consul at Geneva, Switzerland, is well-to-do in his own right, and it is said he has been much embarrassed by the report that he was poor and was going to wed a rich woman nearly twice his age. Friends of Mrs. Barney say she was born in 1880.

Mrs. Barney's daughters each inherited $1,500,000 from their father's estate. They will remain in Paris, where they have many literary and artistic associations.

Mrs. Barney is the daughter of the late Samuel N. Pike of Cincinnati, a rich distiller and proprietor of the opera house there bearing his name.

PUBLIC LIBRARY ADDS FIFTH TO CUPID'S CAPTIVES

Miss Howmiller's Engagement Announced, and Miss McBlair's May Make Sixth.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Linda Howmiller of 5303 Ridge avenue to Herbert Brown of Galveston, Tex., makes the fifth romance brought to a culmination among the Public Library assistants in the past two months. Miss Howmiller has been the head of the Cabanne Branch of the Public Library. Her engagement was formally announced at a noonday luncheon given Friday by Mrs. William P. Gruner of 3406 Hawthorne avenue, herself a library bride.

Simultaneous with the announcement comes information that another library assistant, Miss Alice McBlair of 5115 Lindell boulevard, has resigned her position at the Carondelet Branch. This has led to the expectation that she is to be the sixth. Lee Hildebrand of 4220 Castleman avenue, who was formerly also employed at the Carondelet Branch, has been attentive to her and their friends have been under the impression that they are engaged. Mrs. Keith Payne, Miss McBlair's sister, said Saturday, however, that her sister's engagement had not been announced, and Hildebrand denied that there was an engagement.

Of the five, three have been married and the other two are to be married in the spring.

Mrs. Gruner's luncheon was given to Miss Howmiller and her assistants at the Cabanne Library.

Mrs. Gruner was formerly Miss Anna Goerts, and she was an assistant at the Cabanne Library prior to her marriage, on Feb. 20.

Miss Mary Douglas was married to George O. Carpenter Jr., Miss Margaret McPheeters was married the same date to Rogers V. Scudder. Miss Elizabeth Coste is to be married to Talton Francis, son of D. R. Francis.

STEALS RIDE, LOSES FEET, GETS $40,000

Jury Awards Boy Verdict for Being Kicked Off Train.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Although he admitted he was stealing a ride on a New York Central freight train when kicked off by a conductor, falling under the wheels of the train, a jury in the Supreme Court at Mineola, L. I., Justice Jaycox presiding, awarded a verdict of $40,000 yesterday afternoon to Michael Carmody, a boy whose right leg was cut off below the knee and his left leg at the ankle.

Lawyer Graham brought forward the fact that had Carmody not been kicked he would have had no cause for action. He admitted his client was a trespasser.

SCHNEIDERHAHN ADMITS DEFECTS OF RAILWAYS BILL

Chairman of Committee Which Recommended Mill Tax Compromise Measure Says It Is His Intention to Have It Amended to Meet Objections.

SAYS IT IS WEAK AND INDEFINITE

Proposition Has Been Sent to the City Counselor for Examination and Suggestions to Strengthen the Position of the City.

Councilman Schneiderhahn, chairman of the joint committee of the Municipal Assembly which recommended the bill compromising the mill tax case against the United Railways Co., admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter Saturday that the bill is weak, indefinite and ungenerous to the city in several important respects. He declared his intention of having the bill amended so as to remedy its defects.

Section 11 of the bill, which gives the United Railways the option of abandoning a track for five years before tearing it up, Councilman Schneiderhahn said, would have to be amended, so as to require the company to operate cars over all extensions provided for in the compromise ordinance.

Suggestions Wanted.

Schneiderhahn said the bill had been sent to the City Counselor for examination and suggestions by which the city's position might be strengthened.

Schneiderhahn said that the section giving the company the right to defer the construction of the one-mile extensions from year to year might enable them to wait until the last year of the agreement, 1913, before carrying out its provisions. He said the section would be amended to make it more definite.

Penalties Called Excessive.

He said the penalties provided for in the companion ordinance for violation of transfer rules were excessive. The ordinance provides a fine of $5 to $500 for misuse of a transfer.

Ben Westhus, president of the South Broadway Merchants' Association, said Saturday that Schneiderhahn had requested him to get signatures of persons living on Arsenal street to a petition requesting the adoption of the compromise ordinance. The people of Arsenal street are interested in having the bill passed in order to get a through cross town line for South St. Louis.

ROOSEVELT WILL OPEN DAM NAMED AFTER HIM TODAY

With Wife and Daughter He Will Afterwards Visit Archie and Then Go West.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 18.—Theodore Roosevelt arrived here this morning and immediately set out on an 80-mile motor jaunt to open the great Roosevelt Dam this afternoon. Roosevelt was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their daughter, Ethel. They were escorted from Grand Canyon by Gov. Richard Sloan and Chief Justice Kent of the Territorial Supreme Court. John Orme, president of the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, and former rough riders greeted the Colonel. The escorting party and others, in automobiles, accompanied him to the dam opening.

After an address on conservation the Colonel will open the dam, turning the impounded water into the delivery canals. He and his party will spend the night at the dam. After dark Miss Ethel Roosevelt will switch on the current, illuminating the dam, power house and canals.

Roosevelt and his family tomorrow will motor to Mesa, to spend the day with Archie Roosevelt, a pupil in a private school there. Afterwards Roosevelt will return to Phoenix for an address, in which he is expected to discuss the new constitution for Arizona. He will lunch with rough riders Monday and depart Monday night for Los Angeles.

3 KILLED IN EXPLOSION

PUEBLO, Colo., March 18.—Three men were killed and five others severely injured by the explosion of an engine in the rod mill of the Minnequa steel plant of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. here yesterday.

The explosion was so powerful that two of the men were hurled through the roof of the engine room and the building was badly damaged. Thomas Lane, working on an electric crane, 150 feet from the scene of the explosion, was severely injured by being struck by flying debris.

WOMEN, DISROBED IN DUTY SEARCH, DEMAND INQUIRY

Rich Southern Society Members to Seek Redress for Alleged Indignities.

NECKLACE QUEST FAILS

Jealousy of an Enemy Believed to Have Caused False Tip to Officials.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Indignant at what she calls disgraceful scenes, Mrs. Joseph Hull, a prominent society woman of Savannah, Ga., prepared today to consult a lawyer concerning the search by custom officials in her cabin for a diamond necklace, during which both she and her daughter, Miss Eliza Hull, were compelled to disrobe. She declared that money could not repay her for the indignities she had suffered and that a rigid investigation would be demanded, to fix the responsibility.

"Again and again I told them I did not know of any diamond necklace," she declared. "To my great surprise I was told that my daughter and myself would have to submit to a search. The searching of both of us was done at the same time, after the cabin doors had been locked. My garments were carefully examined. I was practically stripped.

"Even my false hair was examined. When the woman inspectors asked me to remove my stockings, while the search was progressing, the hateful words, 'Where is the diamond necklace, but it was no use; we seemed lace,' were dinned into our ears incessantly.

Quest Reveals Nothing.

"For the hundredth time my daughter and I denied having a diamond necklace, but it was no use; we seemed powerless to convince them. Finally, exasperated, we said, 'Go ahead and search until you are satisfied.' They found nothing."

Mrs. Hull made a declaration of $150 in foreign purchases; Miss Eliza declared $148. The Hulls were among the first on the pier and among the last to leave. When their luggage had been carried to the pier Agent Wilson insisted that the inspection of the 11 pieces belonging to Mrs. Hull and her eldest daughter should be complete.

The women, who were richly dressed, were hemmed in by a curious crowd of customs men, treasury agents, railroad agents, hotel runners and others and they became greatly embarrassed. For 30 minutes they were cross-examined and then were instructed to step back aboard the ship with two inspectresses. Their baggage had been ordered to the appraisers' warehouse for another examination. All the articles which it was said they had failed to declare had been seized. In the case of Mrs. Hull they amounted to $350 and that of her daughter $120, it was said.

An arrangement was made, however, whereby they might have the goods, which consisted entirely of wearing apparel, by paying $300, the foreign value, plus the duty.

Blames an Acquaintance.

It was reported that the tip to search the Hulls came from Washington, but at the Hotel Albemarle young Mr. Hull, speaking for his mother and sister, said:

"I understand that the report came from Savannah. The informant, perhaps, was actuated by motives of zeal, jealousy or pure meddlesomeness. My sister, Eliza, was the only one who had been abroad before, and father told her to be careful about the declaration. He wrote her and even sent her a wireless Thursday, telling her to be most careful. The only necklace my sister has she purchased from a jeweler in Savannah five years ago."

A DRINK THAT IS A FOOD.

The chemical analysis shows that the cocoa bean from which chocolate and cocoa are made, both sweet and bitter, contain elements of nutrition which are recognized by medical authorities all over the world as a healthful and life sustaining food.

Chocolate eaten when fatigued is very stimulating and satisfying.

Some persons complain of being unable to digest chocolate. A well-made cocoa or chocolate must suit every stomach that retains the slightest digestive power. It has been demonstrated that an unadulterated cocoa, well made, taken in addition to a good breakfast, digestion will be perfectly accomplished in three hours.

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., of Dorchester, Mass., has compiled a very neat recipe book, which tells how to prepare chocolate and cocoa intelligently, containing among others some very nice and inexpensive home-made candy recipes. This book will be sent upon request.

WOMAN SMOKES IN HOTEL

Tells Blackstone Manager She Is Accustomed to It Abroad.

CHICAGO, March 18.—A middle-aged woman, well gowned, startled guests at the Blackstone Hotel last night by calmly lighting and smoking a cigarette in the main lobby. The woman occupied one of the cozy corners with an elderly man, who smoked a cigar.

"I am sorry, madam," said Manager Tompkins," but women are not allowed to smoke anywhere in this hotel."

"Very well," she replied with a smile, "but I live abroad a great deal and am used to smoking in public."

REFUGEES FLEEING FROM MEXICO AS DANGER INCREASES

Dire Reports From Interior Borne Out by Those Who Are Quitting Country.

CHIHUAHUA IS BOTTLED UP

Arms Shipped to Border Points Believed to Be for the Insurrectos.

Special From a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 18.—A continuous stream of refugees—men, women and children—passing northward through San Antonio, testifies to the seriousness of the Mexican situation.

The conditions in Chihuahua continue to grow worse. The insurgents have had the city bottled up since Feb. 25, although there has been a very slight restoration of railroad communication to the south. Business is almost suspended, the poor are in sore straits and there have been three murders due to anxiety and unrest.

A newspaper correspondent says provisions have increased 30 per cent. Butter sells at $1.25 a pound and crackers at 50 cents a box. There is a milk famine in the city, as there is no food for the cows. On March 8 there was enough coal to run the brewery, electric lights and street railway two or three weeks.

Alarmed by the impending outbreak in the northeastern corner of the republic, the Mexican Government has undertaken to station rurales in some of the principal towns of Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas in an effort to prevent an uprising of the miners and ranchmen, who are known to be armed and ready to join the revolution.

Four car loads of small arms and ammunition are now on their way to Mexican border points consigned from New York to dealers on the American side of the boundary. No doubt exists that they are intended for the rebels, but there is no effort to prevent their being shipped into Mexico so long as they are not consigned in such a way as to come within the construction of international law.

The mobilization at Fort Sam Houston was complete today and the figures are compiled for Gen. Carter. There are assembled in camp 448 officers and 9039 enlisted men. There are absent from the assembled commands 161 officers and 835 men.

SECOND INFANTRY OFF TO HONOLULU

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The Second Infantry is being sent to Honolulu, in accordance with an order given by Major-General Wood, Chief of Staff of the Army, on Nov. 16 last. The two batallions of this regiment which are now en route for San Francisco, will sail within a few days.

It was the original intention to send them March 5, but their departure was delayed by the sending of the Chinese relief expedition on the army transport Buford, no transport being available. The third battalion of the Second Infantry is now at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., taking care of that post in the absence of its regular garrison in the South. This battalion will sail for Honolulu June 5.

Two batteries of field artillery will sail for the islands on July 5. The one battalion of the Twentieth Infantry now at Honolulu will return to the United States on the arrival of the full regiment. All this, it is pointed out at the War Department, is merely carrying out a plan worked out several months ago for increasing the inadequate garrison at Honolulu.

DIAZ IS LIKELY TO SPURN PEACE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO CITY, March 18.—If Minister of Finance Limantour is coming to the capital with the intention of inducing President Diaz to listen to terms of peace proposed by the insurrectos for cessation of hostilities, it is said that his efforts will prove fruitless. That the administration would be willing to grant terms was regarded as a strong probability, but only after the rebels had laid their arms. That President Diaz would agree to declare his recent election void was declared to be absurd.

Big proclamations were posted today all over the capital by the Governor of the Federal district, regarding the act suspending the constitutional rights and giving in plain language, without legal verbiage, what offenses will be punished by death.

LA FOLLETTE SEES CHANCES FOR WAR

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MADISON, Wis., March 18.—If intervention in Mexico means anything, it means war, declares Senator LaFollette in the weekly magazine bearing his name, which was issued today. He then asks if it is possible that the army and navy and the lives of Americans are being used to help Wall street make money.

The Wisconsin Senator inquires significantly whether the financial interests in Mexico of Henry W. Taft, the Morgan group, Attorney-General Wickersham and others have any connection with the warlike demonstration along the border. LaFollette recalls that the Constitution does not confer upon the President the power to declare war, and says Congress should call him to account.

"THE HORRORS OF WAR" AS PICTURED BY ARTIST FRUEH

Grim war stalks along the northern border between this land of the free and Mexico. Twenty thousand Yankee sons of Mars are sacrificing themselves on the altar of patriotism. Without murmur whole regiments are charging headlong at imaginary foes, while the moving picture man is taking miles of photographs of them. Hot work, indeed! So hot that paternal Uncle Sam is sending 40,000 tropical uniforms from the Philippines. The fatherly War Department will no more let the troops perspire in heavy clothes in Texas than send them clad in pajamas to Eskimoland.

Every handsome soldier boy is exhausting himself in the attempt to make love simultaneously to half a dozen of the finest product of Texas—girls. All the officers are wearing themselves out dancing at hotel hops with the lovely and fashionable women of San Antonio, Galveston and Southern California. The troops are starving—there is nothing for them to eat but chile con carne, hot tamales, ducks and diamond back terrapin from the shore of the Gulf of Mexico. The strong flavor of tobacco that permeates the food along the Rio Grande brings conviction to the suffering warriors that Gen. Sherman was right when he said sulphurously, "War is hell!" and that conviction is driven in when rushing to alleged canteens, their throats drier than lime kilns, the soldiers find only soft drinks and tracts.

Old-Time Burglar Says Canary Bird Is Best Watchman for a Home

Gives Rules for Housewives and Believes a Hatchet or a Knife Is Handier Than a Pistol—Declares Thieves Are Cowards.

A canary bird is the best burglar alarm, according to George Haggarty, who ought to know, speaking from the burglar's standpoint. He has served nine penitentiary terms, aggregating 42 years, and estimates that he has robbed 300 stores and residences during his liberty in the last 52 years.

Recently released from the Chester (Ill.) penitentiary, after serving 11 years there, Haggarty came to St. Louis, his old home, in the hope of getting honest work.

Haggarty says that the slightest noise will wake a canary bird, and that its constant chirping, even if it does not rouse the sleeping occupants of the house, gets on the burglar's nerves so that he is glad to flee. Here is some further advice he gave, in an interview Saturday with a Post-Dispatch reporter:

A hatchet or knife is a better weapon in a fight than a revolver. If the man with a revolver misses the first shot, the man with the hatchet usually has him at his mercy.

A dog is a better safeguard against burglars than locks and guns. When the dog barks, the burglar will leave if he can get away.

Light Is a Warning.

A light, however dim, burning in the house, safeguards against burglars. Seldom will a burglar go deliberately into a house where there is a light.

Lock your house securely on stormy nights. A burglar knows he can work best when he is protected by the noise of the storm outside.

The best fastening for a window is a strong nail in the middle of the upper frame. Bore a hole with a gimlet through the top frame of the lower window in the middle, and half-way through the lower frame of the upper window. Push a nail in the hole. It will hold the window securely. No burglar can pass it unless he breaks the window. A burglar can release nails in either end of the window with a wire.

When a burglar enters your house he expects to shoot his way out, if necessary. He will not hesitate to kill you if you get between him and the path to liberty.

Burglars Big Cowards.

A burglar is the biggest coward on earth if you get the drop on him. Keep your revolver beside the bed, on a chair (not under your pillow), so you can get it quickly. Almost any burglar will get the drop on you while your hand goes under a pillow for a pistol.

A small chain protector on each door opening outside is the best doorlock. A burglar can open locks and slide back bolts, but he is blocked by the chain.

No burglar will go over a transom if he knows there is a dog in the yard or in the house.

If you discover a burglar in the room, keep quiet, unless you can get the drop on him. Then shoot to kill. Call the police afterwards.

Haggarty was never captured while robbing a residence. He was caught stealing from stores. Each time he was caught after his first conviction, he entered a plea of guilty and accepted his sentence. Once he served a term of three years for stealing a horse. The animal was owned by a doctor, and was tied to a hitching post on Market street, between Third and Fourth streets. Haggarty says he was drunk when he took the horse, and wanted to take a ride. He got as far as North Market street when he was captured.

Caught Robbing Store.

Once he was captured as he left a store at Eighth and Morgan streets with $240 worth of silks, shirts, and clothing. He had broken a rear door with a hatchet. He got five years for that.

Twelve years ago Haggerty stole a watch from a pawnshop on the Levee, after breaking the front door with a hatchet. He rowed in a skiff across the river. At Huntsville, Ill., he says he robbed a drygoods store. He carried $400 worth of silk and clothing to a skiff and was preparing to return to St. Louis when the police ran up. The skiff floated away down the river while Haggerty battled the policemen with his hatchet. He seriously injured a marshall. He was later sentenced to Chester for an indeterminate term of from one to twenty years, on charges of assault to kill and burglary.

He escaped from the prison after serving four years, and made his way to Monett, Mo. He was captured and sent back to prison. He was released from there Oct. 18, after serving 11 years.

Worked in Winter.

He went to Mountain Grove, and worked there at odd jobs during the winter. He came to St. Louis Wednesday. The first night here, he was given a taste of his own medicine, he says. While he slept in a levee rooming house, his shoes and his last 15 cents were stolen.

At the age of 70, Haggarty says there is no profit in a life of crime. Admitting his misdeeds, he now wants a chance to support himself by honest labor.

Haggarty was captured while he was attempting his first burglary. He expected, by robbing offices in a building at Third and Chestnut streets, to get money, intending, he says, to give it to an actress playing at the old Ben de Bar Theater, with whom he was infatuated. He broke open several desks, but got no money. He was seen leaving the building after midnight. The police chased him two blocks, firing four shots at him. He was captured an hour later in a lime box at Broadway and Chestnut streets, where he had hidden.

He was prosecuted by former Lieutenant-Governor Charles P. Johnson, then Prosecuting Attorney. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary at Jefferson City. He never saw the actress after that, he says, and has later learned that she is dead.

UNION MARKET BILL, AMENDED, BACK IN COUNCIL

Schneiderhahn Recommends That Measure Leasing Site Be Passed.

After adding several amendments to the bill authorizing the Mayor and the Comptroller to lease the site of Union Market to Samuel Bowman for a term of 99 years for an annual rental of $50,000, Chairman Schneiderhahn of the Ways and Means Committee has returned it to the Council with a recommendation that it be passed.

Most important of the bill's new provisions are those permitting the city to cancel the lease at any time after 25 years, a stipulation that the proposed market have a height of at least two stories fronting Broadway and Sixth street, and a requirement that Bowman or his assigns pay the general and special taxes on the leasehold and improvements and all special taxes for the reconstruction and sprinkling of streets and the building of sewers.

Cancellation Provision.

The cancellation of the lease after 25 years is conditioned on the city's paying a sum equal to the original cost of the market building and additions, less the depreciation of the property. This amount will be fixed by three arbitrators.

As in the first draft of the bill, it is provided that the building shall cost not less than $300,000; that it be of fireproof construction and that its erection be under the supervision of the Board of Public Improvements.

$300,000 Bond to Be Filed.

A bond of $300,000 is to be filed to insure the fulfillment of the conditions of the lease.

Samuel Bowman informed the committee that he and his associates intend to build a market house that will cover the entire block between Lucas avenue, Morgan street, Sixth street and Broadway, and that later room for stores and offices will be provided in additional stories.

SYSTEM FULL OF URIC ACID—THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY CURED

Two years ago I was very sick and after being treated by several of the best physicians in Clinton I did not seem to get any better. I was confined to my bed. Seeing Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root advertised I resolved to give it a trial. After using it for three weeks I found I was gaining nicely, so I continued until I had taken a number of bottles. I am now restored to health and have continued my labors. My system was full of Uric acid, but Swamp-Root cured me entirely. I am sixty years old.

Yours very truly,

STEPHEN KANE, 45 YEARS IRISH JIG DANCER, IS DEAD

St. Louisan Who Won Prizes Was Run Over at Crossing and Feet Cut Off.

Stephen Kane of 2612 Caroline street, whose exhibitions of the Irish jig, hornpipe, breakdown and reel have amused thousands of St. Louisans, died at 1:40 a. m. Saturday, at St. John's Hospital, from injuries Friday afternoon, when his feet were cut off by a Missouri Pacific train at the Compton avenue grade crossing.

In dancing contests Kane showed as much agility and vigor up to the time of his death, in his fifty-eighth year, as he did in his young manhood. During the 45 years that he competed in dancing contests, he was never beaten, and his home is filled with hundreds of prizes of every description.

He was one of the moving spirits in all Irish activities and was known to thousands of St. Louisans. He was a member of the Board of Governors of the Western A. A. U., and was to have acted as one of the judges in the meet at the Armory Saturday night.

In Water Department.

Kane for 30 years has been superintendent of construction of the city water department. He was born in Limerick County, Ireland, Dec. 26, 1852. He came to the United States when he was 21 years old and settled in St. Louis.

Kane came from a family of dancers. His sister, at the time he came to the United States, was the champion dancer of Ireland. Kane was one of the supporters of amateur athletics, but was much opposed to professional.

IRISHMEN OF 3 LOCAL SOCIETIES HONOR ST. PATRICK

Special Dispensation Granted to the Sons of Erin to Eat Meat Friday.

Ireland's patron saint was honored Friday night by Irish-Americans who gathered about banquet tables. The principal gatherings here were two banquets in St. Louis and one in Clayton.

The Irish-American Society celebrated at Hotel Jefferson. The American Sons of Erin dined and spoke at the Planters'. The Irish-American Society of St. Louis County gave a banquet at Autenrelth's cafe, in Clayton. Women were guests at each of these festivities.

Jack Ryan was toastmaster at the Sons of Erin gathering. The principal speakers were Gov. Charles S. Deneen of Illinois and Quin O'Brien of Chicago. Archbishop Glennon arrived before the festivities were completed, and made a brief talk. Col. Martin Collins, chairman of the board of directors of the organization, acted as host, in the absence of President P. E. Conroy.

Dispensation Granted.

A dispensation was granted for the occasion, and meat was served at the banquet. No wines or liquors were served.

The strict Lenten rules of the Catholic church were observed at the banquet of the Irish-American Society at the Jefferson, and no meat was served. The green and white menue cards bore the greeting, "A Thousand Welcomes."

John B. Denvir Jr., the toastmaster, was introduced to the 300 guests by President Patrick F. Cook of the society. Among the speakers were former Justice of the Missouri Supreme Court Shepard Barclay, John T. Keating of Chicago, Frank G. Cunningham and James E. King. The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Father Carroll of Rock Church, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Father Timothy Dempsey.

300 at Clayton.

More than two hundred attended the banquet at Clayton. Claude B. Martin was toastmaster. Invocation was delivered by the Rev. Father R. G. Stemker. Among the speakers were President Con P. Curran, president of the organization; Judge G. A. Wurdeman, William Marion Reedy and Roland Johnson.

NEW YORK, March 18.—More than 20 cases of bubonic plague have been discovered in Porto Allegro, Brazil, according to cable dispatches received here from Buenos Ayres.

MONEY ADVANCED TO RELEASE MRS. BOUGHER

St. Louis Woman Was Held at Quarantine in New York as an "Immigrant."

Mrs. Emma Bougher, 56 years old, who was detained two weeks by the immigration officials at Ellis Island, New York, on her return to this country from a visit to relatives in England, and was in danger of deportation, all because her husband had lived in the United States 25 years without taking the trouble to become a citizen, is coming home. Persons in New York whose sympathies have been aroused by her plight advanced $31, the amount she lacks to enable an "alien" to enter the United States.

A lawyer's clerk visited Ellis Island Friday and assumed responsibility for Mrs. Bougher, saying he would be back Saturday with the money. It is understood that the Christian Endeavor Society contributed the money. St. Louis members of the organization, at the request of New York members, investigated here and found that William Bougher, the woman's husband, was unable to send the money.

The aged couple put all their savings into the trip which Mrs. Bougher took to her old home in England. She did not know that she was an alien and that she would have to show as much money as any other "immigrant" when she reached New York. If the money had not been raised for her she would have been sent back to England.

LIONBERGER LOSES IN DEBATE WITH MISS PANKHURST

St. Louis Lawyer Admits Defeat by English Suffragette on Women's Rights.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's day in St. Louis was a whirlwind campaign of oratory and argument for woman suffrage. The noted English suffragette departed at 10:10 p. m. Friday night for Topeka, Kan. She will spend two or three days in Kansas, and then return to Baltimore.

Miss Pankhurst debated the suffrage question with Isaac H. Lionberger before an audience at the Mary Institute Hall, after she had spoken to the members of the City Club at noon. She received a splendid reception from an audience of well known men and women at the Mary Institute Hall. After the debate Lionberger conceded that he had been defeated by the suffragette.

Upon arriving in St. Louis Friday Miss Pankhurst was driven to the home of Mrs. George F. Steedman, 34 Westmoreland place, for breakfast. She addressed the City Club at 1:30 p. m., and went from there to Mary Institute for the debate with Lionberger.

Is Guest at Dinner.

An informal tea in her honor was given at 6 p. m. by Mrs. Steedman. Miss Pankhurst then went to the home of Tyrrell Williams, 20 North King's highway, where she was the guest of honor at a dinner for eight. The other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Williams were Mr. and Mrs. William R. Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. January and William Booth Papin.

In the debate at the Mary Institute Miss Pankhurst, after hearing the argument of Lionberger against woman suffrage, declared that the St. Louis lawyer did not understand politics. For this she was applauded. Lionberger, who has been active in politics during his many years' practice at the St. Louis bar, laughed.

Lionberger declared that women's duties were in the home, and that they were not physically able for the hardships of politics and war.

"Do your presidents settle their campaigns for office by prize fights?" Miss Pankhurst asked, when she arose to answer Lionberger. "Women do not go to war, but there are army nurses. In the recent distribution of 60 prizes by the Legion of Honor many of them went to women.

"The English women's movement is world-wide. Women want to vote for the same reason that men do—to remedy injustice.

"In our own country children are at work in the factories, so young they can hardly remember when they began. The 'Shrieking Sisterhood' of England has made our factory laws better. Women and children used to work in the mines, doing the work of mules, before the women fought for better conditions."

Miss Thekla Bernays made a brief address, supporting the suffrage ideas of Miss Pankhurst.

Women Behind Scenes.

"Mr. Lionberger says men stand for justice," Miss Bernays said. "Then he makes them stand only for expediency. Women have always been in politics. They have stood behind the scenes and pulled the wires and made the men dance like marionettes. They have become ashamed of such tactics. They want justice to rule and they want to come out openly and do their work.

"Men in St. Louis, to save their property, have formed a league in opposition to the women's organization to suppress smoke. But the women will go on trying to save life and health just as they have been doing, and continue their crusade against the smoke nuisance."

Mrs. George Gellhorn presided at the Mary Institute meeting. Among the women on the stage were Mrs. Walter Baumgarten, Miss Virginia Adams, Miss McCluney, Miss Reber, Miss Helen Hays, Mrs. C. W. Fordyce and Mrs. George F. Steedman.

USERS OF COAL CHALENGE WOMEN TO SMOKE DEBATE

Association Wishes to Thresh Out Subject With Those Fighting for Abatement.

Women who are active in the movement to abate smoke have been challenged to debate the smoke subject and ordinances by the members of the Coal Users' Association of St. Louis. This action was taken at a meeting of the association Friday in the Odd Fellows' Building. No date for a joint meeting for the debate was set.

The members of the Coal Users' Association made a distinction between what they call the "Butler interpretation" and the "Parker interpretation" of the smoke ordinances. The organization was formed for the purpose of defending its members against the "Butler interpretation."

The "Butler interpretation," complained of by the members of the association, is that the existing ordinances forbid the emission of any smoke from smokestacks, according to the members. The "Parker interpretation," they say, is that the ordinances allow a small emission of smoke, but does not necessarily require that no smoke shall be allowed.

The members of the association complain of the activity of the inspectors employed by Col. James Gay Butler, and say they consider impossible such ideals as Butler and the women active in the anti-smoke movement demand. They say that the owners of factories are anxious to abate smoke, but that a practical smoke consumer has not yet been invented which will absolutely solve the smoke question.

Put an Extra Stomach to Work

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Do the Work of Two or Three Stomachs. Affords Instant Relief.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE.

When your food does not digest, when gases form, when you experience that uncomfortable feeling of fullness, when the breath is foul, the tongue coated and that sour taste is in the mouth—take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and watch how quickly every one of these symptoms disappear. All that was needed was to digest that lump of food in your stomach—and the glands, whose duty it is to supply the gastric juices, had simply given out from overwork. So when you took that little tablet you were supplying exactly what was necessary to complete the process of digestion that the stomach had begun but was unable to finish.

If you would continue to take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal for a while, your stomach would have a chance to rest up and get well and strong again.

Try just one box and you will never want to be without this wonderful little remedy for stomach troubles. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain an ingredient, one grain of which will digest 3000 grains of food. They are so entirely harmless because they have absolutely no effect on the system one way or another except to do just the one thing—digest food.

40,000 physicians use and recommend this National Remedy. Every drug store everywhere sells and recommends Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The price is 50 cents per box. A sample will be sent free if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Professional Nurse Uses and Recommends

MISS KATIE GREINER

Miss Katie Greiner, a trained nurse of Philadelphia, who has a large practice, is loud in her praise of what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done for her patients and herself.

"As a trained nurse I often have cases where the attending doctor prescribes Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey when a tonic is needed, and the results are uniformly satisfactory.

"I myself was sick from 1900 to 1904, was very weak; to the milk diet ordered by the doctor I added a little Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which helped me wonderfully. A teaspoonful in the morning gave me a good appetite, and when I had a bilious attack could retain it when nothing else would remain on my stomach. It has also benefited me when I had the grip."

In a letter just received she says: "A short time ago I was on a case of pneumonia, a child 18 months old. The doctor prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I had a bottle with me and commenced using it as directed. Baby commenced improving immediately and is now a fine, healthy child.

"Last July and August I used your valuable medicine in a case of an aged lady, 78, who had pleurisy. It was of great benefit to her, and her family are still using it.

I believe it a good thing for a nurse to let a firm know from time to time what good their products are doing, as I think we all like to hear good news. Wishing you great success," Miss Katherine Greiner (Grad. Nurse), 4912 Kingsessing Av., W. Phila., Pa.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

If you wish to keep young, strong and vigorous and enjoy perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It corrects the defective digestion of the food, increases the appetite, strengthens the heart action, gives force to the circulation, cures insomnia, brings restfulness to the brain and nervous forces and gives vigor to the entire system. Prescribed by physicians and recognized as a family medicine everywhere. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. It is the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold IN SEALED BOTTLES ONLY, never in bulk. Price $1.00 a large bottle. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co, Rochester, N. Y., for an illustrated medical booklet and doctors' advice, both sent free.

PECULIAR CASE OF ST. LOUIS WOMAN

Mrs. Martha Gerichs of St. Louis, Tells of Her Experience in a Serious Case of Illness, Cured by the Use of Cardui, the Woman's Tonic.

MRS. MARTHA GERICHS, St. Louis, Mo.

"When life seemed darkest and death almost welcome, relief from years of suffering came in the simplest manner," declared Mrs. Martha Gerichs, of St. Louis, Mo., Friday. "I read an ad. and it saved me."

Mrs. Gerichs is the wife of George Gerichs, a paperhanger.

She has been a mother to her four little nieces and nephews since their mother, her sister-in-law, died, years ago.

Her restoration to health, through the use of Cardui, has brought happiness to a home that was threatened with double bereavement.

"As a little girl, I always was frail," said Mrs. Gerichs. "My parents constantly spared me all the harder tasks of the household, because they knew I was delicate.

Even when I entered woman's estate, I suffered from an illness peculiar to my sex, which made me violently ill, sometimes for a week at a time.

My condition grew worse and worse, until my relatives feared I would die.

Our family physician said my malady was one that could only be relieved by the most difficult operations. Womanlike, I said I would die first.

After a long sickness I arose from my bed, but I never was the same again. Those intervals of suffering came oftener and remained longer.

After my marriage, my health still was impaired. Then my brother's wife died and left four little ones to be cared for.

My husband and I went to live with my brother and I took complete charge of the household.

It was the most severe tax on my already enfeebled physique.

Nothing but love for those motherless children could have spurred me to such endeavors.

I did all the cooking, baking, washing, ironing, sewing and attended to the many demands of such a large family.

But the tax told. I collapsed.

One day, two months ago, some one threw a yellow circular on our door step. One of the children brought it in. It told of the Cardui Home Treatment and something about it gave me a faint stir of hope.

I had lost faith in everything and was willing to lay down and die. Every bone and nerve in my body ached intolerably.

My husband, to please me, got a bottle of Cardui at the nearest drug store.

I didn't notice any change for the first day, nor the second, although I followed instructions mechanically. But the third day I felt a trifle better and still better the fourth. After that it was steady improvement.

When I began the Cardui Home Treatment, I weighed just 98 pounds. My cheeks were sunken and my frame that of a skeleton.

After taking two bottles of the Cardui and using the Thedford's Black-Draught and the Cardui Antiseptic, I had regained such strength that I could again attend to all the household duties without any help.

I began to take pride in housekeeping again.

What made us the happiest was, that the medicine not only allayed the pain and suffering, but seemed to have removed the cause of suffering, which had been with me constantly since girlhood.

I am now on my third bottle of Cardui, and keep the other two remedies in the house constantly. I recommend it to my friends whenever they marvel at my recovery."

Mrs. Gerichs is 28 years old, with blue eyes and flaxen hair, and of the tall, willowy type.

On the day [illegible] recovery [illegible] their plain trial [illegible] invested eleven a forgotten article with the sprightliness of a girl.

Her eyes sparkled and cheeks were flushed from the exertion.

"I couldn't have done that two months ago," she said. "It is a joy to forget pain and just feel like other folks again."

The above statement of her case was signed and sworn to by Mrs. Gerichs, before Fred Reimler, Notary Public, St. Louis.

It carries conviction in itself, as the words of a woman, who has tried for relief but failed, until she began to take Cardui.

Each sentence contains food for thought.

Have you suffered from similar ills?

Are you weak?

Do you have pains and aches, due to womanly weakness, that ordinary medicines will not touch?

Do you wish to get out of the chronic invalid class and become a strong, healthy, well woman, with vitality enough to take care of your household tasks, and still not feel "tired to death" at the end of the day's work?

If so, take Cardui, the woman's tonic. It will surely help you, as it helped Mrs. Gerichs and others who suffered worse than you do, now.

Your druggist sells Cardui with full instructions for use, inside the package.

Get a bottle and give it a fair trial today.

SHALL WE HAVE THE TRUTH?

The President's golfing vacation comes to an end tonight. On Monday he returns to Washington. While he has been at play the country has witnessed the largest, the swiftest and the most inexplicable military movement of which America has any record in times of peace.

By this proceeding, excused only by trifling and contradictory statements, Mr. Taft probably accomplished more than he intended, whatever that may have been. He surprised, and to some extent alarmed, his fellow citizens. Except for their faith in him they would have been staggered by the suddenness of the enterprise. He gave new life to jingoism here and abroad. He aroused old enmity in Mexico, awakened old prejudice in all of Latin America, gave aid and comfort to hostile Canadian Toryism and filled nearly every European foreign office with sneers and suspicions.

Humiliating as must be the admission, the conclusion most favorable to the administration is that by some means not as yet disclosed it fell into a colossal blunder. If that be true, Mr. Taft's return to duty should be followed at once by orders in harmony with the facts. Errors of this magnitude can be corrected only at first hand. If there be justification of any kind for the movement, the people have a right to know the truth. In the event of further concealment the Congress to assemble on April 4 may be depended upon to enforce that right.

Equipped with ancient chain armor and a spear, as the knight errant of the cause of the adorable lady of the sheltered bower, Mr. Lionberger made a gallant but vain fight against the agile Amazon of modern civilization armed with a long-distance, repeating rifle.

A PATHETIC CASE.

Instances of the hardships that follow literal application of the immigration laws are plentiful enough. The pathetic plight of Mrs. Emma Bougher is the latest one. Although she has resided in this country for 28 years, she is held at Ellis Island and technically classified as an "alien pauper," for which the penalty is deportation.

Publication of the case in the Post-Dispatch brought an early contribution to start a fund to pay her expenses to St. Louis. With the money came a letter in which the "stupid technicality" of the law was mentioned. Indignation is perhaps justified, but if the law is stupid, the men who administer it are not. In the exercise of a charitable discretion by immigration officials, Mrs. Bougher has been cared for at Ellis Island when perhaps her plight would have been worse had she been allowed to go her way penniless and alone. With no apparent chance of the problem's being solved, the officials nevertheless waited.

Mrs. Bougher's aged husband is unable to send her money, but, for all that, we believe the immigration officials erred on the right side and did not wait in vain.

Of 11 violators of the smoke ordinance one was fined the minimum of $25 and costs and promised to abate the smoke; another paid costs and promised to burn hard coal hereafter; another showed that he had already changed from soft coal to hard; six cases were continued on a showing that all had smoke-prevention devices on trial, and one explained the smoke was due to a faulty smoke abater. It is evident that a general effort is being made to abate the smoke. Fines and the fear of them, is a great incentive to such effort.

REALITY AND ART.

The late Benjamin F. Butler was one of the ugliest, ablest, wickedest and most interesting men Massachusetts ever produced or educated. In his composite character he ranks well up toward the summit of New England greatness.

This may explain the strong protest of New England art against putting his statue in front of the Massachusetts Statehouse. It was a peculiarity of the peculiar wickedness of his character to shock Boston as deeply and as permanently as he shocked New Orleans. In his wicked creed all men, including all men born in Boston, especially in its Back Bay precincts, are born equally free and equally bad, with large possibilities of becoming worse so rapidly and certainly that they will never know how bad they are unless fully exposed by an expert.

In becoming such an expert, the late Gen. Butler did not become more beautiful as he grew older. But he did become one of the most remarkable of all Massachusetts realities. His statue in front of the Massachusetts Statehouse (if it ever gets there) will be one of the ugliest in existence. But it will be a memorial of all the realities which it is a human habit to conceal as long as it is possible to afford them.

"Conscious that the State of Illinois is today a pathetic object of mingled pity and contempt," now the stereotyped form of beginning resolutions on any subject in that highly Lorimered commonwealth.

HOW CHICAGO DID IT.

The Chicago City Railway Co. will pay over to the city as its 55 per cent share of the company's net receipts for the year ending April 15, $829,914. This is an increase of $355,000 over last year, and brings the total share of the city for four years up to $2,503,026.

The Chicago City Railway has 252 miles of single track lines, about one-third of the total surface mileage in Chicago, and operates only on the South Side. It owns 1506 cars, has eight power houses and is capitalized at $16,971,900. So deplorable was the situation when the new franchise agreement was made, in 1907, that a condition of it was the reconstruction of the lines, the "rehabilitation period" being fixed at four years.

The company is under franchise obligation to set aside 6 per cent of its gross receipts for maintenance and repairs and 8 per cent for renewals and depreciation. It is limited to a 5 per cent return on its cost of investment, and the net profits above this amount go 55 per cent to the city and 45 to the company.

Astonishing as it may seem, during the "rehabilitation period," which ends next month, it has earned dividends averaging 10 per cent and paid to the city the $2,503,026 mentioned in addition. Its franchise period, dating from the settlement of 1907, is 20 years.

This is the result of a struggle which led to the squeezing of the water out of the stock and a readjustment and rehabilitation along modern lines of efficiency, and a division of the profits between the two forces that make the railway possible and profitable.

There may be some other ways of settling street railway problems, but they have not yet been discovered. The wages of sin are the same in the case of a street railway corporation as of an individual, and there seems to be no occasion for revising or seeking to revise the scriptural consequences in the case of any particular corporation.

In adopting bills regulating the employment of women and children the State Legislature is entitled to credit for its contributions to the cause of humanity in Missouri.

BIRRELL'S WATERLOO REVISED.

As defined by the late Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, history is an entertaining record of things which never occurred. One of the most entertaining features of twentieth century history was the capture of the Rt. Hon. Augustine Birrell by militant suffragettes.

In St. Louis we learned at once by cable how the so-called sacred shanks of the gentle and amiable Birrell had been kicked by his captors until, when rescued by the police after his Waterloo, he had to be lifted into his cab. While nothing in twentieth century history is more likely to remain of permanent interest as historical fact than this, it seems to belong to the long and always lengthening record of historical facts that never took place.

In attempting to revise history, as already recorded, Miss Pankhurst now informs her St. Louis admirers that the gentle Birrell was not kicked after capture. On the contrary, he lamed himself in an unladylike attempt to escape. As history, this is just as logical as the facts which never took place. These, however, are now part of the permanent record. In after ages the militant suffragettes may be famous for their capture of the Rt. Hon. Augustine Birrell, because of these very facts they now deny. They may be remembered for kicking Birrell as long, perhaps, as the chief interest of the original Waterloo centers around the Old Guard, engaged in saying what it never did say at all on that or any other historical occasion.

As Miss Pankhurst couldn't define "militant suffragette" we shall continue to think it is one whose batting average is better than .375.

THE GOVERNOR'S RESPONSIBILITY.

The "home rule" sentiment of St. Louis is practically unanimous. The city supports without division its own right to choose the members of the boards or commissions by which its local affairs are controlled.

This is not doubtful, nor is it doubtful that the city will be equally decided in its support of a system under which the Governor of the State will be held to his responsibility for preventing the abuse of all authority given by State laws.

The power of local selection of all officials controlling in local affairs is home rule. It is a right. If such officials, violating State laws or failing to enforce them, are not removable by the Governor, then the Governor is no longer responsible as chief executive for "taking care that the laws shall be enforced."

Gov. Hadley's position in this respect is so logical that those who defeat any home rule measure in the hope of putting him in an embarrassing position will find that they have left themselves no position at all as "home rulers."

There is a man on the South Side who boasts that he can say "Schutz and Schneiderhahn" three times in succession with one hand tied behind him.

A SWISS INSTANCE.

Switzerland offers an excellent illustration of the folly of prohibition. The manufacture of absinthe was a flourishing industry in Switzerland until the Government concluded that it ought to prevent the people from drinking or manufacturing it by legal enactment. Until the prohibition law was passed the Swiss were not particularly fond of the beverage, but most of the Swiss product was exported.

But prohibition had an extraordinary effect not contemplated in the narrow minds of the Government officials. The demand for absinthe as a beverage increased rapidly, and is now enormous. It is sold surreptitiously in large quantities and the Government is at wits' end to find means of stopping it. Of course, it cannot be stopped. The drinking of any beverage the people want is never stopped by law.

The absinthe industry, however, has been driven out of Switzerland. The Government will now [illegible] compensate the manufacturers for the loss of [illegible] and business. The money will be [illegible] here and the manufacturers with thriving plants outside of Switzerland will sell more absinthe in Switzerland than they ever did before the foolish authorities tried by law to force the Swiss to quit drinking it.

On second thought, Frank Gould seems to have decided that Standard Oil and "the system" have been subjected to a time exposure, and the proofs were long since filed in the muckrakers' archives.

Another group of Alaska land grabbers have been indicted. The Morganheims positively will not allow poaching on their preserves.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

No War With Mexico.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to say a few words to the jingoes who would like to see this country plunged into a war with Mexico. What object do they think will be gained? There can be no doubt about the outcome of a war of 90,000,000 people with 15,000,000, but what then? Annex Mexico, or some of their territory? While Latin and Saxon may live in peace, I doubt whether they will be happy under our form of government. Besides this, there is another consideration. Mexico and South America is at present one of the richest fields for building up our export trade and will be more so in the future. A war with Mexico, unless for a good cause, will put us in a bad light with all of South America and will seriously handicap our business relations with all the countries south of us. Of course, if Mexico intends to lease a coaling station to Japan or colonize Japanese in Mexico, that is a different thing, but I think it will be time enough to act when this takes place or we have positive information that it is going to take place. Would also like to say that I have been in Mexico several times and have always been treated with the utmost courtesy. Whenever I had occasion to ask any information from anyone, the humblest peon would gladly help me in any way possible.

A. B. C.

The Commission and the Rates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Old Abe Lincoln said you can fool all the people some of the time and some of the people all the time, etc. This seems to hold good in the case of the Interstate Commerce Commission vs. railroad companies. The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission against the railroads as the commission leads you to believe was a greater concession than they expected, not all they asked for, because that was the point of strategy used against the commissioners or to deceive the public in order to get what they wanted. The railroads made a grand bluff to fight the decision, but they had no more idea of fighting than they did of flying. They have worked a big farce by cutting the dividend of one lonely railroad stock—the New York Central—which I have from good authority was a secret compact among the New York pirates to guarantee the loss of the dividend by declaring an extra dividend in the near future when all is forgotten.

Railroad stocks are higher today than they were a year ago despite the fact that the poor, persecuted corporations were so badly treated. Some roads are paying increased dividends, even though they have added inflation to their already inflated stock.

If we are going to reduce the cost of living then let the Interstate Commerce Commission reduce the freight rates, and if Mr. Taft's administration cannot find men that can cope with those railroad magnates, why then let us vote for another administration.

R. McDONALD.

The Mystery of $103,000,000.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Becoming interested in the United Railways situation, I went to Poor's Manual, a standard financial publication, and there I learned:

The company has issued stock to the value of $44,000,000 and bonds to the value of $59,000,000.

For each dollar of bonded indebtedness and each dollar of stock issued I assume that a dollar of lawful currency was paid into the United Railways treasury, or a total, in round numbers, of $103,000,000.

This enormous sum, I am assured, is sufficient to build the entire United Railways system nine times over.

Why, then, does the United Railways have to borrow $12,000,000? Why is its credit so low? Why is its physical condition such as it is? What was done with the $103,000,000 secured from the sale of stocks and bonds?

HERBY.

People Who Don't Read.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is said that Taft doesn't read magazines and that one Supreme Judge reads neither magazines nor newspapers. That's nothing. Your Answers column shows that many other people do not read. For instance, persons signing themselves "Constant Reader," "Old Subscribers" and people who want chile con carne and hot tamale recipes; also nearly everybody who rents flats or houses.

STUPIDITY.

Wall Street Revolutions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial, "Morganized Monroe Doctrine," was a very good and true statement. One thing that strikes me as peculiar is, the trusts have bulldozed the presidents of South American republics, for instance the Asphalt Trust's fight with Castro of Venezuela. If the presidents grant them all the special privileges they demand, all well and good; if not, they furnish arms, ammunition and men and start a revolution and put a "man" in who will listen to "his master's voice." When Colombia would not let the United States do as they pleased on the Isthmus the war gods at Washington furnished arms, ammunition and even United States soldiers, to set up a new government called Panama. It was recognized immediately at Washington, but they won't at this time recognize the republic of Portugal. Why?

Thomas Lawson once said 99 per cent of those Central American revolutions can be traced to the door of Wall street. Now Diaz has always listened to his master's voice, has given "the interests" all the valuable copper mines and the majority of the natural resources of Mexico. Why? So that if ever the day came when the people rebelled and he could not control them, "the interests" would use their influence at Washington to have troops sent to Mexico to protect their property and at the same time keep those in power who give away the property of the people and nation to the Wall street bunch.

Diaz had the man placed in jail last election who dared to run against him, and we all know how Diaz had soldiers in each polling place to do a much better job than the St. Louis "Indians" used to do. That's why he has been President for 25 years.

ANTI-DIAZ.

Ladies to Boss Sprinkling.

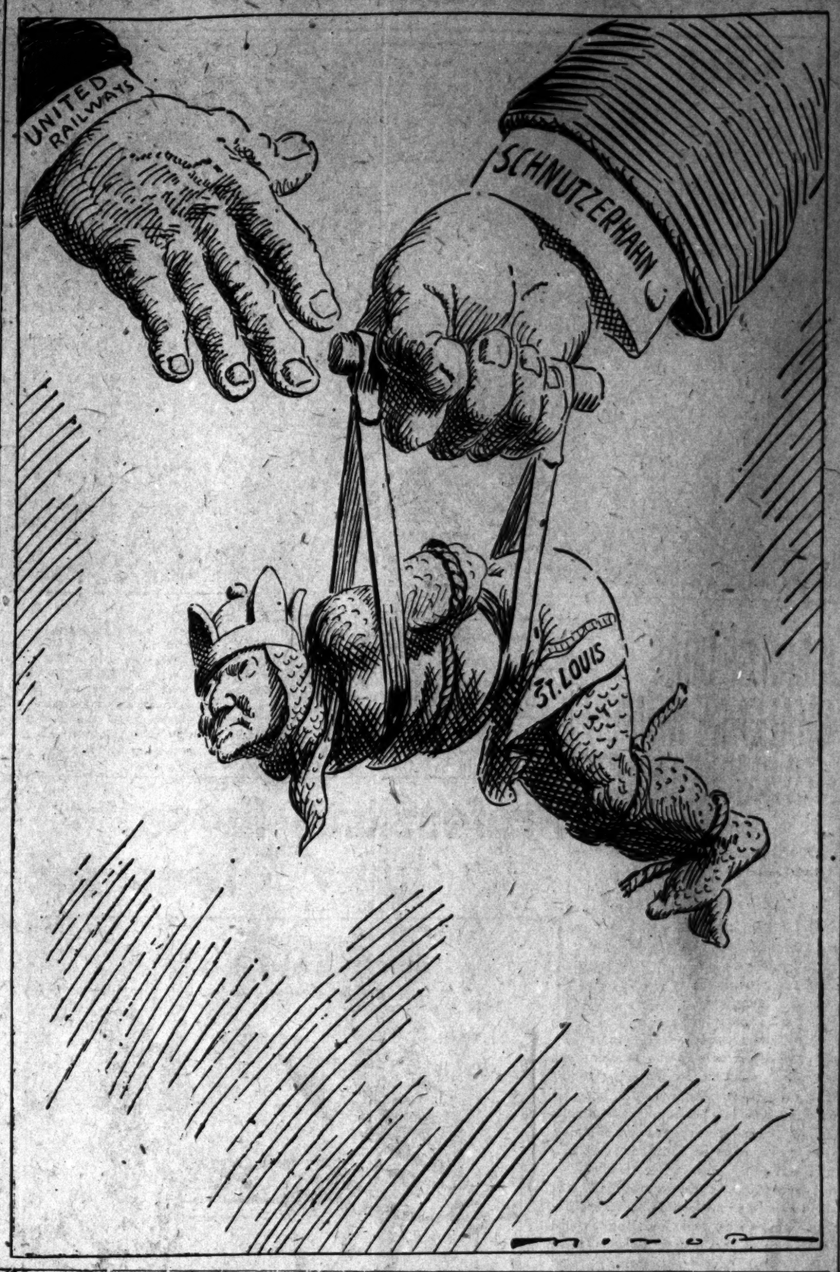

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Allow me to suggest three of the ladies who are now engaged in suppressing the smoke nuisance be appointed sprinkling inspectors and enjoy the same pay those whom they will displace do. We know in the Cabanne district and no doubt all over the city the dust is really a greater nuisance than the smoke, and we know the dust can be suppressed at once if these ladies are paid for it.

This is a duty the women can easily perform and those in office do not perform. There are other offices at the city hall which will be better filled by women. Why not?

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

THE "COMPROMISE."

TWO BONAPARTES.

From the New York World.

Former Attorney-General Bonaparte of Baltimore is panic-stricken at the thought of a foreign invasion. "Any one of several great powers today," he says, "could land on our shores ten-fold the number of soldiers we have placed on the Mexican border in less time than was needed to bring Gen. Ross' brigade across the Atlantic in 1814."

Two hundred thousand men is quite a large army to move by sea three thousand miles or more. To bring it across the ocean would require an immense fleet of transports, an entire navy of warships to convoy them and a third fleet of vessels to provision and coal the expedition.

Another Bonaparte, who is generally credited with having possessed a little military talent, conceived the idea as long ago as 1797 of landing an army in England. He harbored the plan for some years afterward. In 1803 he assembled on the coast of the English Channel near Boulogne one of the finest and best armies ever at Napoleon's disposal, but although England was only a few hours away he never dared attempt a landing there.

Perhaps Napoleon Bonaparte lacked the imagination of Charles Joseph Bonaparte. It may be that he lacked the American Bonaparte's knowledge of the science of war. If only he had had the Baltimore lawyer's help he might have invaded and captured England. Moving hundreds of thousands of troops not merely across the channel but across the Atlantic is easier for a man who was Secretary of the Navy for a few months.

GERMAN THRIFT.

From Daily Counsular Reports.

Prof. Ballod, a German expert, taking the organization of the Prussian income tax as the basis of his figures, shows that it is possible to form a fairly accurate idea of the amount and of the progress of private wealth in Prussia. In 1895 the total private fortunes in Prussian on which the income tax was levied amounted to $15,197,968,000, which had risen in 1908 to $21,813,414,000, an increase of 42 per cent in 14 years. By extending this calculation in proportion to the population to the whole German Empire and by comparing it with the figures of the leading three German assurance companies, it appears that the total net annual amount put aside by Germany is no less than $1,250,000,000, in round figures.

The Usual Spring Ailment.

From the Pittsburg Post.

"The doctor says I have mental indigestion."

"What on earth is that?"

"Seems I'm reading more baseball news than I can assimilate."

A Lovely Fad.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Have you tried smoking tea cigarettes?" inquired Mrs. de Style.

"Why, no, my dear. Are they so pleasant?"

"No; but they are very injurious."

Tennessee's Choice.

From the Nashville Tennessean.

The newspapers are filled with learned discussions as to the most beautiful sentence in the English language. We vote for "Have another biscuit."

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

AN IMPRESSION.

MISS SYLVIA PANKHURST was speaking. A slight, girlish, ethereal figure, it seemed incredible that any big-fisted Bobby had ever shoved her, or any brute had knocked her down. Yet did she harrow us with the most terrible details, horrors of fact and outrages of record. It was so unlike what we had somehow supposed. They were not Amazons that were hammered and cuffed. They were frail and pretty women like Miss Pankhurst herself.

That was the point. She knew it, and she knew we knew it. Every time she told of a blow she knew that we in our chivalrous American fancy pictured it falling on her. That was what settled the English with us before she had been speaking 15 minutes. We were against the proposed treaty of peace. We were against having anything more to do with them. They were not men, but brutes. Wow-wow-wow! but how we would have liked to have been over there when that sort of thing was going on. There would have been a greater tale than that of Stepney street, my masters.

Miss Pankhurst is really not much of a public speaker. Her voice is small, and like our own Maude Adams, she sort of stands on her tip-toes to get what she says over her chin. But lud-lud! that isn't the point. There are no end of big-voiced but unethereal suffragettes on the other side who would not have done for this work in America.

Yes, gentlemen—as pretty as ever was, and such a sweet, faerie little creature.

Brutes! Brutes!

"Look here, Eliza! I want you to understand that I didn't marry your whole family—I only married you." "Yes, James. They always said I was the only fool in the family."—Toledo Blade.

"Paw wants a bottle o' liniment and maw wants a bottle o' china cement right away." "All right, sonny. What's wrong?" "Maw hit paw with the sugar bowl."—Judge.

J. B.—You can turn over deed of trust to party from whom you purchased a lot, as part payment thereon, and need not notify maker of the papers upon doing so.

MRS. HAMILTON.—Souse red portieres in gasoline. Have two basins, so that after cleaning in one they may be rinsed in fresh gasoline. Rub spots between the hands.

SPANA CUBA.—This is the Federal law: Retail dealers are allowed to retail cigars from boxes packed, stamped and branded in the manner prescribed by law. Sales can legally be made only from the stamped package.

CHARLES.—Your question depends upon what assertions (if any) he makes at the sale; if none you take the title as it stands and in event of any flaws you have no recourse on him under the special commissioner's deed.

C. W. S.—Carpet ink stain: Make thick paste of starch and household ammonia and coat the spot. Cover to keep out dust and leave three days, then brush out starch and renew. Before applying the paste brush out the dust and wash the spot with clean water. Persevere.

C. C.—You are entitled to outside wall only of the floor you rented and no more; the landlord, as to remainder, can lease for advertising purposes. Even though you may occupy the entire premises it would not include space above roof, which owner has right to lease for purposes aforesaid.

J. K.—City is not required to take all your property, but if by taking a part the balance is made useless it would buy the whole. If but part is taken and the street paved you would be required to pay for your proportionate part. In taking part of your property the damages are ascertained and the benefit you receive deducted.

IGNORANT.—In a warm home where you are welcome you might remove your overcoat without an invitation. Your host should have invited you to remove it. Possibly he "didn't think." Some men seem to delight in wearing a heavy overcoat in all temperatures, and he might have supposed you would not like to be out of yours.

THANKS.—Oliver's translation of Keiner says: In most thin membraneous leaves the upper and under sides are differently constructed; the difference is recognizable in the green tissue. Before the palisade cells is a stratum of cells of looser texture. The cells of this under layer are not so crammed with chlorophyll and therefore appear a lighter green than the palisade cells.

RUTH.—If the bylaws of the order make it obligatory that only blood heirs could obtain the insurance money you could not participate therein, nor could your stepfather defeat the bylaws. Money would not, in this case, be paid into court, but to the heirs direct; unless some are minors, and in that event to their guardian or curator; their shares only passing through probate court.

G. L. T.—The Dewey dock left Solomon's Island, off Baltimore, Dec. 27, 1905. In the beginning of its voyage it made hard weather and was nearly out of its course. Twice it broke loose from its convoys, once when approaching the Canaries and again in the Mediterranean Sea. Through the Suez Canal, wherein it was apprehended she would have trouble, she made a peaceful passage. Arrived in the Philippines July 10, 1906, after a voyage of 12,000 miles. Four towboats were employed.

M.—"Roland for an Oliver" means a retort for a retort, or the matching of one incredible lie with another. It is derived from the fanciful tales told by the old chroniclers concerning the marvelous deeds of Roland and Oliver, the two most famous of the 12 paladins of Charlemagne. These redoubtable heroes were so evenly matched that neither was able to surpass the other and accordingly to test their relative strength they met in single combat and fought for five successive days on an island in the Rhine without either gaining the least advantage over the other.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTER.

The writer is a New York heiress, surrounded with all that wealth, social position and beauty can give her. But she hates the artificial, heartless life that circumstances have forced upon her. Her mother plans for her to marry a title.

CHAPTER II.

I AM considered very beautiful. That is a great pity—to me, at least. I know I am beautiful, that born in different circumstances I might have made some man's heart beat with joy and a rapturous pride of possession. To me it is a frightful pity. Others might flirt and for the excitement of the game win men to their feet, then laugh them away when won, or, do the same, in the spirit of getting even with the world.

But I cannot; partly because I am too sick at heart, too worn out with the failure of ideals to have the energy to do it—and oh, how could any human being intentionally cause another to suffer. To make sport of the most sacred of human emotions, to play with that which brings us near to divinity—they must be fools who cannot see the sorry part they take in so doing. Blind, blind, to use that which makes us gods as a plaything for children; those that can do so do, in the degrees of man, must rank lower than the lowest grade, must still be held in the kindergarten of life.

So I am considered cold, a snow that many sun-swept days cannot melt, a being of beauty without heart, who ieily but correctly plays her part upon the gorgeous stage. No heart, no heart! great powers above, I wish it might be true; no heart, indeed. I wish it might be so. I wish this white, oval of a face might never quiver into lines of pain. Or these eyes, black as a raven's wing, unfathomly deep, might never ache from smarting tears.

Cruel, cruel are your misjudgments, great world. Will you never learn to be more lenient, to try and hearken to the beating pulses of broken hearts, not gaze upon the face and think you understand?

Let me tell you what I show to the world, to those who watch from the outer side of the golden bars, to those within the cage of gold. Let me describe to you, without vanity myself, for I take no pride in it, having a critical eye I cannot fail to comprehend but that I am beautiful.

I stand before my long mirror; it is between 4 and 5 in the morning. I am but just home from a cotillion, having gone on there from the opera. The light throws back the reflection of a figure, tall, supple, perfectly formed, radiant in a shimmering gown of gold grass cloth over pale blue; great strings of pearls hang like imprisoned tears upon a neck wonderfully white and translucent, smooth and soft. The arms, bare to the shoulder, are as white and perfectly molded as a sculptor could long for, tapering to the hands, which, I must admit, are a trifle too thin and sensitive for pure objective beauty. The face is oval, white, tinted faintly on the cheeks, scarlet upon the curved lips, and the eyes, shaded by lashes that, heavy and thick, tip upward at the end, are, as I said, like forest pools at midnight. My hair is so dark that it throws purple shadows across my blue-veined temples——

There, there, is the slave; fit for a good price, don't you agree? And though you cannot see them on my slender wrists, the chains are there and are cruel, heavy. Gentlemen, what price, what price, what old English title or French coronet, what landed estates or ruined castle that my money can restore? Tell me, what price, what price, does all that beauty bring?

We are giving a wonderul dance tonight. The Duke of Rutherford is staying with us and everything seems to point to a satisfactory arrangement.

I have not the remotest idea what the man is like. I cannot help but wonder sometimes if there is a heart beneath that white mask of a face and back of the always scrupulously polite manner. Does it beat or throb? Did it ever hope? Perhaps, once, long ago (he is over fifty now), he loved the parson's daughter, sweet, young and fair, and perhaps they knew the wild rapture of first love.

Did they? Did they steal out at dusk, to meet, she from the rectory cottage, he from the stately, half-ruined old Tudor mansion house, which he is now hoping my money will restore? Did they know the bliss of kisses in the dark, clinging hands, throbbing hearts—and did they part, broken-hearted, with most of the sweetness of life gone, she to grow old among the English hills, in the quiet little village; and he to go out into the world, and now, after many years, to hunt an American heiress to restore the old place where as a boy he dreamed and played?

Love Songs of A Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

WAKE!. For the breath of spring is in the air!
Wake! And of lurking danger now beware!
For this is when men linger by the way,
And after all the hobble-skirted stare!

Ah, friend, could you and I somehow conspire
To set the hearts of modern men on fire,
Would we not shatter them to bits—and then
Make of the scraps a splendid funeral pyre!

Yet, much as they have played the infidel
And robbed us of our common sense—Ah well,
We really should not care to go to Heav'n
If all the MEN were going—somewhere else!

City-Sickness.

I AM sick of city streets,
With their glitter and noise and din;
And I sigh for a bed on a mossy bank
To cool my forehead in.

I am weary of work and wine,
And the waste of the widening way;
And I long for an hour all my own—
Just one—in the gaudy day.

I have given ye smile for smile,
At your follies have gaily mocked;
But I want to go for a little while
Where the door of the soul is locked!

Oh, the city has cast her spell—
And the city will claim her own;
Yet, I long to know what it is to dwell
With my soul and God—alone!

NO. 1—A PRETTY style suit for the wool-back or cashmere-back satin so much in vogue at the present time, and can be made in any of the popular shades, such as myrtle green, blue, black or lavender. It has a large collar of the material, which starts from the front just above the opening which crosses from the right side to the left and fastens with two large braid frogs. The jacket is straight across the front, but cuts away at the sides, falling below the hips and finished in tuck effect. The skirt is plain and of medium width at the bottom, the left side of the front crossing over the right, corresponding in effect with the cut of the coat. This model would also be adaptable for a linen suit.

NO. 2—A FOULARD dress for a miss, made with a deep collar which crosses to the left side in front, with braid ornaments and loops. This is of plain satin, but would be pretty of fine white batiste also. The sleeves are in one with the waist, and have under cuffs of Irish lace, which also forms the small yoke and collar. The skirt is finished on the bottom with a band of the plain satin, and is cut in front to give the effect of being draped up on the left side and opened under a wide tuck, when in reality it is plain over the hips and opened at the back. A silk cord entwines the waist and is tied in long ends and tassels.

Answers to Queries.

ANXIOUS—Whether formal or informal, wear elbow sleeves with a short sleeved dress. White can be worn with any color.

Dear Fashion Editor.

WOULD ask your advice how to make a dress of messaline, the color of inclosed sample. Would a very pale pink go with it? I am tall, slender, blue eyes, light hair and 18.

A pale flesh color pink would be beautiful, with it, using a marquisette tunic in that color, draped up on the left side and held by a long loop of silver cord which entwines the waist. Around the neck could be tiny roses made of the marquisette, showing below them a touch of the blue satin, as the tunic is cut with a low yoke. A bunch of the tiny roses could hang from the silver cord on the left side.

Dear Fashion Editor.

HOW should I make up the inclosed samples? I have a deep pink slip for under the black and white, and a corn color one for the blue. I am tall and slim. M. M.

I would advise making the black and white with skirt and waist in one, draped to the left side with a black velvet buckle, making the waist surplice style, with plaits on the shoulders. A tiny shawl collar of heavy all-over lace could turn back from the V yoke of fine net, while a touch of deep pink shows in the front. Make the sleeves slightly puffed, gathered into a deep cuff of the fine net, with a piping of black velvet at the elbow. The blue could be made with full waist and skirt, held at the belt line with a self-colored silk cord which ties on the side front. A shirred cording of the material finishes the Dutch neck, with a plaiting of butter colored lace showing above. The sleeves hang loose to the elbow, where the corn colored lining forms an undercuff, with a plaiting of lace below. The hem of the skirt also finish with a shirred cording of the material.

Dear Fashion Editor.

WOULD it be advisable to make a plaited skirt into a hooble by just putting a black band on the bottom, or are they going out of fashion? PUZZLED.

Hobble skirts are of the past. Cut your skirt over into a plain gored one about 2¼ yards around the bottom. You could trim it with a band of black satin if you like.

Dear Fashion Editor.

I AM having a suit made of royal blue broadcloth, with collar, revers and cuffs of blue and white striped satin. Will you give a few suggestions of a pretty and chic blouse to wear with it? M. H.

A waist of heavy all-over lace with a blouse of blue chiffon over it would be pretty, having the lace show at the lower part of the sleeves and at the neck. Self colored embroidery with a few coral beads could trim the neck of the chiffon blouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarr

Spring Madness Seizes Upon Them and Their Mouths Water for the Tang of Spring Onions

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By Roy L. McCardell.

"I WONDER how long this weather is going to keep up?" said Mrs. Jarr.

"It smells like spring, doesn't it?" ventured Mr. Jarr. "It smells like spring even here."

"Somebody's burning rubber, if that's what you mean!" said Mrs. Jarr, sharply. "It may look like spring in the city, but I wouldn't care to classify the vernal fragrance in this part of town. But, oh, to be in the country at this time of year! The trailing arbutus in the wood, the pussy willows by the brook, the smells of the buds, the warm breeze that comes up from the valley, the swallows skimming the pond, the alders a tender green by the water's edge!"

"My, but we are poetic!" said Mr. Jarr. "I think if you were in the country just now you'd find mud and tonsilitis more prevalent than arbutus in the woods and pussy willows by the brook. I got a letter from Uncle Henry from Pike County yesterday, and I tell you, according to what he says, it's very different."

"Uncle Henry could live in Arcadia and would only see the daisy dotted mead as a place to plow up to plant onions!" said Mrs. Jarr, disdainfully.

"And Uncle Henry would be a practical man in foolish Arcadia," said Mr. Jarr. "What good are daisies? They are so common as a flower that nobody will wear them, they are so prevalent as a weed that the cattle won't eat them as fodder, they are not good, even at their earlier and tenderer stages, as salad, as dandelion is. But onions!"

Here Mr. Jarr's eyes and mouth watered.

"Those fresh spring onions, the crisp and tender aromatic silver-and-bright-green scallions! A slice of crusty bread with fresh country butter right from the churn, with the flavor of the tender grass in it, and brave, tender onions! A little salt to dip 'em in and then to crunch their little white fragrant stalks!"

"Stop talking that foolish talk!" said Mrs. Jarr, sharply. "All 'The Boyhood of the Year,' as Tennyson calls the spring, means to you is onions!"

"Well, I didn't kick when you raved about the pussy willows, did I?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Let me crave for spring onions if I want to."

"There are other things more worthy of discussion than onions—spring onions," said Mrs. Jarr. "Spring onions! Faugh!"

"Speaking of an Old Onion, seeing that you won't let me talk about young onions, then," remarked Mr. Jarr, "and yet still clinging to the pleasing subject of spring, I was going to tell you what Uncle Henry had to say about 'The Boyhood of the Year.'"

"Does he say the skies are blue and the young grass is growing everywhere?" asked Mrs. Jarr. "For if HE is writing about onions please don't quote him."

"No, he only said that there was so much mud and the weather was so bad that he couldn't let his four little nephews and three little grandsons go to school."

"So, you see, he is a thoughtful old fellow, after all," said Mrs. Jarr.

"He wrote," Mr. Jarr went on, "that he had them helping him dig post holes and pick stones, off the new field he's clearing near the wood lot, and he said it was surprising how much work you could get out of little boys in cold weather if you kept them stirring with a hickory stick; and what a providential thing it was for a farmer that when spring was at hand and he was at his busiest the days were growing longer, so the careful man could get more work out of his helpers."

"He's an old wretch!" said Mrs. Jarr testily. "He has been living in the country all his days and never saw a sunrise with any other joy in it than that it meant the beginning of a day's toil—for somebody else. For I notice he's so busy bossing he does very little himself. Well, I must hurry out to the store."

"What for?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Well," said Mrs. Jarr, hesitatingly, "your talk of spring onions has made me hungry for them."

Dresses Button Down the Front This Season

The Newest Things in Styles Include Spiral Skirts, Black and White Checks, and Helen Pink and a New Brown, Says an Oracle for the Post-Dispatch.

By Marguerite Moers Marshall.

WE are going to wear glorified bonnets this spring.

We are also going to wear spiral skirts.

And—joyfullest tidings in many, many moons—we can button our dresses down the front!

This highly interesting information, with much more, is vouchsafed by Mrs. Harriet Edwards Fayes, for years a well-known writer on topics of dress.

"The new styles are going to be delightful," she began, when I saw her yesterday. "The most important thing is the new narrow skirt. It is not the foolish hobble of last summer. The yard-around-the-bottom is gone. But in its place is the skirt measuring from two and an eighth to two and a quarter yards around the hem, the most comfortable, graceful and modest model seen in many days. It permits perfect freedom in walking, falls in straight, simple lines, and it is perfectly safe to wear in the shadow of the Flatiron Building, just because there is no superfluous cloth for the wind to catch.

"But there is one thing to be remembered about this new skirt; it demands good material. If made of cheap goods it will inevitably bag at the knees. So the most stylish suits this season will be either satin or serge. Heavy black satin will be developed into beautiful street suits. Only, if the woman cannot afford the best quality of it, let her stick to dark blue serge. This will be just as good form, and indeed infinitely better than shoddy-wearing satin."

"What colors besides black will be worn?" I asked.

"Why, really, black and black-and-white will be the favorites," she replied. "The black-and-white check suits will have a fine run. And black foulard silks, with white figures or stripes, will be seen everywhere.

"You see, such costumes can be worn by the women of all ages, and relieved with touches of color to suit the taste of the individual. The younger women will lighten up the effect with red, the older ones with blue or green or perhaps only a wide white collar.

"For evening wear there are some beautiful shades. 'Helen pink' is of course the most striking. Then there is muffin, a sort of golden brown, and various rhubarb shades, which are on the color that we used to call magenta.

"But, to finish with the street suit, the skirt, besides being narrow, must fit very smoothly over the hips. The coat is short, and it, too, fits closely around the hips, where it usually ends.

"The shoulders are very square and the single-breasted effect predominates. The sleeves are small and tight. In the really swell suits the lines on the coat must exactly meet those on the skirt, whether they are lines of braid or stitching or even lines in the material. The most novel feature of the new coats will be the collars. They will show all sorts of elaborate safler effects. On the whole the suits will be very much trimmed, braids, buttons and Oriental and hand embroideries being used.

"There will, however, be more street dresses than coat and skirt suits. The tendency is toward the one-piece costume effect. Most of these gowns will be cut in the modified Empire; that is, with the waist line about three inches above the normal.

"The Dutch neck will be used, but the well-dressed woman will insert a tiny yoke and collar of lace. The least suggestion of decolletage should be avoided on the street. The sleeves will mostly be in the kimono style, with no seam around the armpit, and the elbow length will be popular.

"The crowning beauty of many of these dresses," added Mrs. Fayes, "is that they will button down the front, both waist and skirt. That is a direct tribute to the business woman, and the style should be widely adopted by her."

"Now, please tell me about the evening gowns," I requested.

"The tunic effect, over an Empire underdress, will be seen in the most stylish costumes. Out of this is developed the one-sided train. That is really a prolongation of the left side of the tunic. These tunics will be of chiffon or soft satin, over a lace underskirt. Much lace will be used this year, particularly in wide-banded effects, and also the beading and rich embroideries that were so popular in the winter.

"The spiral skirt, in which the trimming winds around and around the figure, from waist to hem, will be one of the newest and most effective modes."

"And the hats?" I suggested.

"They will be glorified bonnets, small and graceful. Wide ribbon streamers will be tied underneath, against the hair."

"And will the harem skirt become generally popular?" I concluded.

"Who knows?" smiled the oracle. "It is a perfect aviation costume and that is what created it in Paris. But it is best suited to the airship and the automobile, and I doubt if the woman in the street car takes it up."

Behavior in Public.

DEAR girls, behave quietly and discreetly in public.

Do not imagine you are attracting admiration if you giggle and laugh loudly when you enter a street car or as you walk in the business or shopping districts. Many men may turn to look at you if you behave in this manner, but if you knew their thoughts you would not feel flattered.

My dear girls, an honest, decent, manly man does not see a girl behaving in a conspicuous manner in public without thinking to himself:

"Well, I am glad MY sister does not behave in that way!"

Or else:

"I would have something to say if I thought my wife ever acted as that girl is acting."

Be quiet and gentle in public, my dears. A lady does not attract the attention of persons whom she does not know if she can possibly avoid it. A clear, ringing, girlish laugh is sweet to hear, but a high, loud voice in public is the sign of the ill-bred woman.

He No Longer Calls.

A. R. writes: "A young man used to call upon me frequently, but now he no longer comes to see me. I do not know of anything I have done to anger him. Do you think if he loved me he would treat me the way he does?"

I do not think the young man loves you or ever did. I imagine the plain truth is that he has tired of your friendship.

A Love Letter.

R. Y. writes: "I am much in love with a very pretty girl and I thought she liked me. Recently, however, she showed me a love letter another man had written to her. Now, was this honorable for her to do, and should I continue to love her?"

It was not very nice of the young girl to show you a letter anybody else had written her, but it was not very nice of you to allow her to do so. You were both wrong and should not repeat the offense.

Does Not Care.

A. R. writes: "I have been calling upon a young lady steadily for the past two years. Lately she always said she was 'out' when I called, and she no longer answers my letters. It really seems as though she keeps out of my way as much as possible. What do you think?"

I think the young lady is no longer interested in you and is showing you her feelings quite plainly.

LAPORTE TO GET REGULAR BERTH AT SECOND BASE

Probable Advent of Williams and Murray to Browns Outfield the Reason.

INFIELD WILL BE FAST

With Wallace for a Steadier Former Yankee Players Should Do Well.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 18.—The Browns' infield this season is going to show up much stronger than it did a year ago. With Jimmy Austin and Frank Laporte assured of places, along with Manager Rhody Wallace and Pat Newnam, the defensive play of the inner works seems sure to be greatly superior to that of the 1910 brand.

Before the players came to Hot Springs it was expected that Laporte would be tried out as an outfielder. Wallace was unaware that he had such promising young players as Gus Williams and Jimmy Murray. But with this pair of recruits apparently sure to win permanent berths, Laporte will remain an infielder.

For the first time this season Austin, Wallace, Laporte and Newnam yesterday lined up at the same time at positions they will hold down during the championship season.

Austin's arm has not completely mended from the soreness which kept him out of uniform for several days, but the other players held a great workout.

Laporte Looks Good.

This was in advance of the game with the Reds. The work of Wallace and Laporte around second base caused much favorable comment. For three-quarters of an hour they scooped in grounders and tossed the ball about in lively fashion.

It was the first time such work was accomplished by a Brown team since 1906, when Tom Jones, Jimmy Williams, Wallace and "Hobe" Ferris formed what was believed, at that time, to be one of the best defensive infields in the game.

More Releases Coming.

The release of Bill Killefer, the Browns' second catcher last season, to the Buffalo (Eastern League) team is to be followed by a number of others as soon as the team reaches St. Louis next week.

Several young pitchers now on Manager Wallace's staff are to go. Wallace has a pretty good line on the young twirlers who are not up to the American League standard right now. He hasn't mentioned any names, nor has he notified the youngsters that they are to go. The lone reason he is permitting them to remain this long is because he needs them to serve up floaters for the batters and also to use in the current series with the Reds of Cincinnati.

Wallace is very careful of the men whom he knows will be with the team. He doesn't care to risk men like Powell, Lake and Pelty at this early stage of the game.

The fifth game of the series with the Reds will be played this afternoon at Majestic Park. After the game the players will be the guests of the Business Men's League of Hot Springs, at a dinner at the Essex Park Club.

A special train is to take the party to the club house, near Hot Springs. Pat Newnam got in the kid's line-up in yesterday's game with the Reds. His old weakness of dropping thrown balls was again evident. However, Manager Wallace believes that Pat will be able to hold them when the season opens.

Had a Bad Hand.

"Newnam dropped a lot of balls last season, because he played with a hand that was as sore as a boil," said Manager Wallace. "When we came here I told him to have his glove well-padded so that the thrown balls would not injure his hand. He is playing with a glove that is almost as thick as a catcher's, and quite naturally, he can't do as well as with a thinner-padded mit. When his hand becomes hardened after the winter's lay-off, he will take out the padding and then watch him."

* * *

Hans Wagner has been here for almost a week, but few of the players of the clubs now at the Springs have seen the Flying Dutchman. He avoids the dining room when it is crowded, preferring to take his meals when the big hall is almost void of people.

Other players choose to sit in the lobby or on the porch of the hotel during their idle moments, but Wagner is never included in any of the fanning bees. He walks to the hotel desk, deposits or takes his key and darts out of the door to some secluded spot or to his room. Hans dislikes the limelight, even though he is an old timer in the baseball business.

"He has been that way ever since I have known him and will always be the same," said Owner Dreyfuss, in talking of Wagner's bashfulness.

* * *

Paul Krichell, the Browns' catching recruit from the Montreal (Eastern League) team, started in the baseball business with such well-known experts as Eddie Grant of the Reds, Jack Coombs of the Athletics and Dave Shean of the Cubs. They made their inaugural as professionals in the old Northern League, which included small towns in Vermont, New Hampshire and New York State.

* * *

"I was only a kid playing amateur baseball in and around New York City," said Krichell, "when I was asked if I wanted to make my living playing baseball. I said it suited me and then I was asked what I expected for salary. When told that I could make $50 a week, I asked them when the next train left for the town. I was certainly sore, though, when I learned that players on the same team were making $100 and $125 a week. A peculiar feature of that league was the fact that we were always paid on Monday nights."

* * *

Bill Bailey blames a horseback ride for his poor showing against the Reds, yesterday. Bailey took a ride with Bill Killefer, Frank Truesdale and a couple of other players, the other day, and like one unused to the sport, Bill felt the ill effects. He says most of his soreness settled in his left arm and shoulder. But be that as it may Bailey pitched about as miserable an exhibition as has ever been seen for two innings. He did everything but turn loose a wild pitch.

* * *

In the seventh inning Bailey allowed two hits, two passes and hit a batsman, which netted four runs. In the eighth inning five successive hits were made off the southpaw. He also made an error. That gave as many runs. The Reds won the game 13—2.

* * *

Roy Mitchel started the game, despite the fact that he claims he is at his best in warm weather. After the first inning in which two runs were made he did well and besides he seemed to have a lot of stuff on the ball. Mitchell, who hails from the Houston (Texas League) team, is one youngster who seems almost certain of success.

* * *

Gregory also pitched three innings but didn't do as well as on his last out. The Reds made two runs off him.

* * *

Gus Williams hit the most wicked drive of the series in the first inning off George McQuillan. It was a wallop just inside the third base line. But for the fence it would be going yet. Williams got a double on the rap. It drove in two runs. He also got two other hits, both singles, one was a drive to left and the other to right.

* * *

Hallinan made two fine fielding plays. He turned a double play unassisted in the third, when he jumped up for Grant's liner and stepped on third, getting Bates, who had started for home.

* * *

Hallinan also saved trouble for Gregory in the sixth when he caught a low thrown ball from Jay Clarke when Bescher and Egan turned a double steal. Both runners would have scored had not Hallinan grabbed onto the ball.

* * *

Bert Schotten pulled up with a lame ankle and will be on the shelf for awhile. Al Schweitzer subbed for him in the ninth.

PENNANT BEE IS REALLY BUZZING AT LEAGUE PARK

Stanley Robison in Earnest About Cardinals Chance to Win Championship.

NO INCREASE FOR KONEY

Owner of Club Thinks Big Ed's Contract Settles All Salary Argument.

M. Stanley Robison, president of the Cardinals, who Friday paid a flying visit to St. Louis to see his team practice, says he honestly believes that the Cardinals will finish in the first division this season, and that, if the pitching staff gets going at its best and the outfielders do a little better than last year, the club has an excellent chance to win the National League pennant.

A short time ago, when Mr. Robison was in New Orleans, the report was sent out that the Cardinals' owner thought that his team would win the pennant. This statement baseball men all over the country treated as a joke and cut loose with many witticisms at the expense of Mr. Robison. Many thought he had been misquoted.

Mr. Robison, however, figures the Cardinals' infield about as good as any in the National League. Last season the outfield did not do quite as well as expected, while the pitchers performed only fairly well.

According to Mr. Robison the pitchers will "deliver the goods" this year, and he is sure that the outfielders will also hit their stride, as they have had a year's experience with the club and are bound to work better together.

Off for Home City.

Mr. Robison arrived Thursday and will depart Saturday for Cleveland. He will next visit Cincinnati and does not expect to return to St. Louis until the opening of the spring series between the Cardinals and Browns, on March 25. He did not see the Cardinals work-out Thursday, and Friday the rain prevented him from getting a peek at his ballplayers as, when he reached the park, it was raining and the squad after a short practice was forced to hike to the clubhouse. Bresnahan and Mr. Robison held a conference in regard to the affairs of the club.

The Cardinals' owner regards the spring series row as a mere tempest in a teapot. "I am not bothered one way or the other over the series," he stated. "When Wallace and Bresnahan get together, Monday, they will settle the argument as to whether or not there will be seven games in short order. This long-distance wordy war can be squashed by the two managers in five minutes' time if they are left to themselves."

Mr. Robison was asked as to what he intended to do in the matter of giving Ed Koney, his star first baseman, a boost in salary. Koney signed a three-year contract which has two years to run. Koney thought this season that he was entitled to a larger salary than what he had signed for.

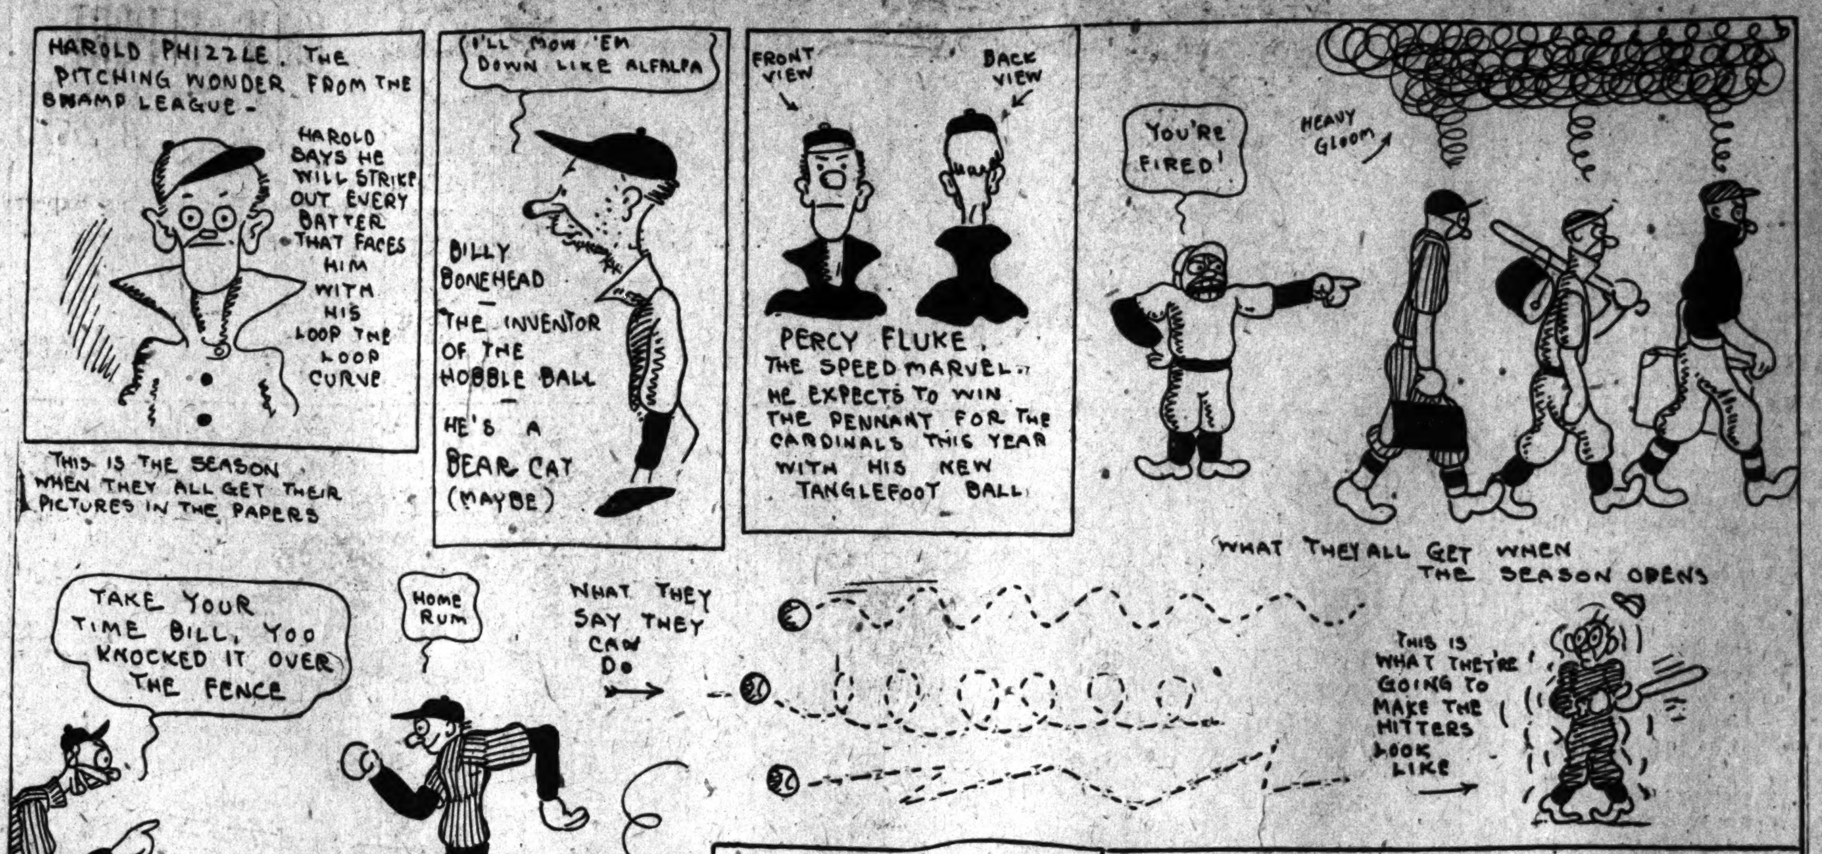

The Letter of the Bond.

Mr. Robison says that, while he was in Florida, Panama and other Southern states he did not receive any papers and did not want any, consequently he was not posted on the Koney case.

"I can't see where Koney has any argument coming," stated Mr. Robison. "He signed a three-year contract. That contract still has two years to go. That's all I know about it."

The Cardinal squad departed for Kansas City Friday night. Secretary Seekamp made arrangements whereby the men were able to pile into a sleeper at Union Station at 10 o'clock. The train did not leave until 11:30. Games are scheduled with the Kansas City Blues at Kansas City Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Bresnahan and his men are due back in St. Louis Monday morning for practice at League Park Monday afternoon, weather permitting.

BLOOMERS THAT FLOWER IN THE SPRING, TRA LA!

WRAY'S COLUMN

AFTER THE POT OF GOLD.

EVIDENTLY the wires were crossed in that Ad Wolgast retirement story. Far from quitting the game after the Memsic battle, Wolgast is preparing for a campaign which will probably take him through the list of eligibles now seeking his title. Wolgast is first to meet two coast "comers" who are believed to be able men—Burns and Lagrave.

Antone Lagrave, the "Butcher Boy," is the lad that put it over Battling Nelson, in a bout which was supposed to have served as a sort of polisher for "Come Back" Nelson. Instead of serving in the capacity mentioned, Lagrave proceeded to pound Bat cruelly, to the great damage of the former champion's reputation.

Frankie Burns is not the Eastern lad of the same name, who gave "Digger" Stanley the fastest run for his reputation he ever had. This Burns is a husky lightweight, one of the "iron man" type. He made a creditable showing against Owen Moran by hiding behind his gloves, a la Johnny Regan, so effectually that Moran could not find him with a search warrant.

These two men out of the road Wolgast will go after all the known stars. This lad is belying his promise of becoming the "real cheese champion." From fighting no fights at all, Wolgast wants to take them all on in a hurry. Nor can you blame him, when you figure that he can average $5000 per fight for a 10-round go.

Figuring that there are at least ten men to be treated in this manner, there's $50,000 in it for "Ad" in the space of a few months. And then, after all these, there come the real derby distance fights, which will net the big coin.

There's a real pot of gold at the end of this rainbow.

ASK AN EASIER ONE.

IF it takes three years to get a line on Bill Bailey, how long will George Stone last?

* * *

It's perfectly evident that what the fight game in Missouri needs is not a new boxing law, but a New York magistrate who can throw away evidence expertly.

* * *

Wallace could let about four of those youngsters go now without being accused of undue haste. Several of the green 'uns are merely clogging the way of regulars who ought to be getting in shape by this time.

The reserved seat idea at League Park will meet approval at all homes where late Sunday dinners are the habit. This thing of scorching the palate with hot soup and running away from dessert in order to see the game in comfort has its drawbacks, unless one happens to be a gastronomic acrobat.

* * *

Every now and then, when a champion of the lightweight division gets into bad odor with the fans, they take him out to Los Angeles and rehabilitate him at the expense of George Memsic.

* * *

Florance Curran, chairman of the Registration Committee of the Western A. A. U., refused to believe that 15 of the men to whom he had given amateur boxing cards had been temporarily suspended. About 1915 the Registration Committee will be looking over the 1911 calendar for up-to-date happenings.

NOT ALL DEAD, YET.

EVIDENCES that there is still a live one or two in the athletics world here is manifest in the entry list for the M. A. C. indoor meet. In point of varied representation the event is really the best one in the history of indoor athletics of St. Louis. At least six colleges and universities are represented and for once the contests will not be made up of two classes, the purely local and special features for men who outclass St. Louis athletes. Martin Delaney was wont to make a big noise by bringing stars of other localities here to do exhibition stunts. These were, perhaps, interesting to watch, but lacked zest to those who like competition. In the present meet every event seems to offer a real contest and the relays are made up of the pick of athletes of the West.

If the energy devoted to this meet is continued in promoting other local affairs in the future, athletics should prosper in spite of the A. A. U.

COMING WITH A RATTLE.

SENOR PIERRE MAUPOME—the name reads as though one ought to write monsieur, instead of senor—is practicing diligently at the three cushion billiard game in order to be fit to dispose of Campbell of Philadelphia, when that player comes for the final three games of the St. Louis schedule in the Inter-City League.

Of course, St. Louis is practically a winner, now; but lest the idea get abroad that it's all over, it might be as well to understand that Pittsburg can still afford to lose two games and yet tie the Mound City for first place. All of the other clubs are out of the hunt.

Pittsburg has won 13 successive contests. The team, which consists of one gentleman named Wireback, has 12 more to play. To a man who has won 13 straight games the task of winning 10 out of 12 seems not so stupendous. If St. Louis should be unlucky and lose the series to Philadelphia, the Pittsburg chances would be all the better.

However, all of Pittsburg's games have been won on the home table, which seems to have angles of its own, entirely apart from the general run, according to descriptions of visiting players. It is significant to note that on the road, so far, Pittsburg has proven a dismal failure, winning but two games out of nine played.

WOLGAST ARRESTED AFTER MEMSIC BOUT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 18.—After George Memsic and Ad Wolgast had recovered from the effects of their battle for the lightweight championship at the Vernon arena, yesterday afternoon, in which Wolgast was declared the winner of a bout scheduled to go 10 rounds both men were arrested on charges of having participated in a prize fight.

Wolgast was too strong for Memsic. After the first round, in which Memsic threw Wolgast to the floor, slightly dazing the champion, Memsic never had a look-in. Memsic was staggering from the effects of a series of rights and lefts in the ninth round and Wolgast was about to put over a knockout punch when Referee Eyton stepped in, stopped the bout and awarded Wolgast the decision.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF HOPPE'S EXPULSION

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1911, by Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PARIS, March 18.—The police surprised the billiard word Thursday night by insisting that Willie Hoppe, the young American player, shall not play here. Consequently it is believed Hoppe has left for America. The trouble grows out of his having played in games on which betting was done when he was here before.

Demarest continues to play, but he is worried lest the police include him in the drastic order.

In many quarters it is believed that Hoppe's trouble was caused by jealousy between local billiardists who own rival halls. Early this year Hoppe broke the 18.2 balk-line record made by Cure a few days before Hoppe's arrival. Cure's record was 531 points, but Hoppe ran 622 points.

Both Hoppe and Demarest are the idols of the French billiard world.

OLD MODOC CLUB STAR TO COACH NORTH END CREW

Fred Gastreich to Take Charge of Ambitious North Side Crews.

Fred Gastreich, a member of the old Modoc Club, one of the best single scullers and allround oarsmen who ever pulled a scull or sweep on the Mississippi River, has been formally appointed coach of the North End Rowing Club. Gastreich had only one rival in the local rowing world at the time he was at his best, and that was Koenig, who won the national championship. Koenig stuck to the rowing game but a short time, and while he was rowing confined himself to the singles. Gastreich was as much at home in a barge or four as when seated in a single. He was a finished oarsman and for that reason is expected to develop a number of stars at the Centrals.

The North Ends have not been doing much for a number of years in the rowing game, although the club has a large number of shells that are the equal of any in the harbor. The Centrals came to the front suddenly, a couple of years ago, when Mike Begley, Joe Formanack and a couple of other veterans took hold of the crews and the North End members are hoping that Gastreich will be able to do equally as well with the wearers of the black jerseys.

The North Ends have elected the following officers: Clem J. Blankenmeister, president; E. Hausstette, vice-president; F. Oberbeck, recording secretary; E. Knollhoff, financial secretary; H. Wempen, treasurer; P. Hellebrand, captain; E. Schaefer, lieutenant, H. Kitzing, E. C. Sommers and T. F. Bond, directors, and James Bromwich, sergeant-at-arms.

JAP VARSITY NINE SEEKING GAME HERE

Keio University of Japan has reopened negotiations with St. Louis University for a game, to be played with Johnny Bender's nine in this city May 13 or 15. Bender replied that he would be unable to play on the dates suggested by Keio, because St. Louis U. already has games scheduled. Bender suggested that Keio play in St. Louis a week later. The Keio team's American representative called off its original schedule with American college teams because Waseda, another Japanese university nine, was to make a trip to the United States at the same time that Keio was booked to play in this country.

O'Neil Wins Roller Race.

Ray O'Neil won the one-mile city championship roller skating race at the Jai Alai rink, Friday night. Jim Shaw was the only other skater to finish. Rocco Florita, the former champion, dropped out in the tenth lap. Byrne Padon fell while on the eighth lap. O'Neil received a gold medal for his victory. The time was 3m. 21s., and was slower than expected.

Tips and Cues

Payton will play Lamm in the pool tournament game, and Hutchings and Zell will clash in the billiard event at the Rex, Saturday night. Moore defeated Layton, 40 to 37 in the billiard match, Friday night. It was the first game that Layton has lost.

Palmer, 33; Stevenson, 36 and Austin, 32; Du Four, 33, were the results of Friday night's games.

Solthard and Fuller are scheduled for the innovation billiard tournament game at Peterson's, Saturday evening. Stock defeated Bush, 175 to 78 Friday.

Skiff, 35; Premy, 10 and Hirsch, 35; Bohmayer, 35, were the results of Friday's games.

Wolgast to Take on Two More Scrappers

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—In addition to the La Grave-Wolgast match announced yesterday it was announced last night that arrangements have been completed for a match between Wolgast and Frankie Burns here, probably in the last week in May.

The match was made by Jimmy Coffroth, now in Los Angeles. The men will weigh in at 133 pounds ringside. Coffroth is said to have guaranteed Wolgast a purse of $7500 for his share of the prize money and Burns will get 20 per cent of the gross receipts.

CITY TOURNEY ALLEYS OPENED

The new Langtry, McBride & Qualey tenpin bowling alleys, on the fourth and fifth floors of the building, at the southeast corner of Eighth street and Washington avenue, representing an investment of $23,000, will be opened Saturday. It is on these runs that the annual City Tenpin Association handicap tournament will be held, starting next Saturday. A record-breaking list of 284 five-men teams and 1102 individuals has entered for this tournament.

The new alleys are the same 16 runs on which the A. B. C. international tournament was recently held in the Coliseum. The alleys have been planed, although used for less than three weeks. Every new wrinkle known to the bowling game has been supplied, including a bunch of lightweight three-finger mineralite balls for beginners.

McBride, who is a partner of Abe Langtry, is expected from Milwaukee Wednesday. Langtry, who is secretary of the A. B. C., is not expected until the latter part of next week.

ST. ROSE MEN TO GET CHANCE AT FOOTBALL TITLE

St. Leos Agree to Play, if They Win From St. Teresas on Sunday.

Billy Klosterman, manager of the champion St. Leo soccer team, stated Saturday morning that if his team defeats the St. Teresas in their game at Athletic Park Sunday afternoon he is willing to have his team play the St. Roses for the city championship the following Sunday.

There was some talk of the St. Teresas and St. Leos having signed a three-game agreement. Last Sunday the St Teresas and St. Leos played a tie game, 2—2. The St. Leos were the champions of the Athletic Park League, while the St. Teresas are the winners of the pennant in the St. Louis U. Park League. They were playing a championship game therefore there should have been no tie, as in championship games the rules call for the teams to play extra 15-minute periods in case of a tie until one team scores a decisive goal in one of the extra sessions.

These rules will be lived up to Sunday, so that the only chance for a tie will be darkness to put a stop to the game.

The St. Roses are the amateur champions and last Sunday defeated the Yawitz team, champions of the Kulage Park League. The game Sunday at Athletic Park will be started at 2:30 o'clock.

GREAT FIELD TO START IN SPRINT EVENT TONIGHT

Pick of the W. A. A. U. Dash Men Will Go to Post in 50-Yard Race.

RELAYS FURNISH FEATURE

Most Important Will Be Meeting of Teams From Three Universities.

Although the usual protests have been made over the handicaps allowed by Theodoric Bland for the athletic meet to be held at the First Regiment Armory Saturday night, under the auspices of the Missouri A. C., the event promises to be one of the best indoor competitions ever run off in St. Louis.

The best athletes in the Middle West will clash, including men from Drake, Missouri, Kansas, St. Louis and Washington universities, as well as the crack teams from the Missouri A. C. and Kansas City A. C. and a number of smaller schools and organizations.

Relay races will be the feature events on the card. Missouri has a crack relay team which recently won from the Kansas quartet in a great race at Kansas City. St. Louis U. will be the third contender when these teams clash Saturday night. Each man will run a quarter of a mile. Another great relay race will be the meeting of the two-mile relay team from Missouri and the Drake University four. Each man in this race will run a half mile.

Great Field in Dashes.

The 50-yard dash invitation should furnish a great contest. It would not be surprising to see the record equaled in this event. Carl Forline, scratch man for the 50-yard handicap, will compete in this race and if he is able to win will be satisfied not to even place in any other event on the program.

Dr. Bassett, director of athletics at the M. A. C., announces that the meet will be started promptly at 8:15 p. m. and any man not ready at that time will not be allowed to compete. Dr. Bassett is sure that he will have the last race finished at 10:30 p. m.

WASHINGTON CLUB TO REBUILD STAND

CHICAGO, March 18.—In a response to a message sent by President Thomas C. Noyes of the Washington American League Club, President B. B. Johnson of the American League, will hurry to Washington this evening for a conference relative to the immediate erection of new steel grand stands and bleachers to replace those destroyed by fire yesterday. The executive will be accompanied East by Treasurer W. H. Rapley of the Washington club, who stopped off in Chicago yesterday on his way to French Lick.

He canceled all vacation plans on receipt of the news that the stands had been burned and will return to the capital city, to assist in supervising the work of erecting new stands.

LAPORTE TO GET REGULAR BERTH AT SECOND BASE

Probable Advent of Williams and Murray to Browns Outfield the Reason.

INFIELD WILL BE FAST

With Wallace for a Steadier Former Yankee Players Should Do Well.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 18.—The Browns' infield this season is going to show up much stronger than it did a year ago. With Jimmy Austin and Frank Laporte assured of places, along with Manager Rhody Wallace and Pat Newnam, the defensive play of the inner works seems sure to be greatly superior to that of the 1910 brand.

Before the players came to Hot Springs it was expected that Laporte would be tried out as an outfielder. Wallace was unaware that he had such promising young players as Gus Williams and Jimmy Murray. But with this pair of recruits apparently sure to win permanent berths, Laporte will remain an infielder.

For the first time this season Austin, Wallace, Laporte and Newnam yesterday lined up at the same time at positions they will hold down during the championship season.

Austin's arm has not completely mended from the soreness which kept him out of uniform for several days, but the other players held a great workout.

Laporte Looks Good.

This was in advance of the game with the Reds. The work of Wallace and Laporte around second base caused much favorable comment. For three-quarters of an hour they scooped in grounders and tossed the ball about in lively fashion.

It was the first time such work was accomplished by a Brown team since 1908, when Tom Jones, Jimmy Williams, Wallace and "Hobe" Ferris formed what was believed, at that time, to be one of the best defensive infields in the game.

More Releases Coming.

The release of Bill Killefer, the Browns' second catcher last season, to Buffalo (Eastern League) team is to be followed by a number of others as soon as the team reaches St. Louis next week.

Several young pitchers now on Manager Wallace's staff are to go. Wallace has a pretty good line on the young twirlers who are not up to the American League standard right now. He hasn't mentioned any names, nor has he notified the youngsters that they are to go. The lone reason he is permitting them to remain this long is because he needs them to serve up floaters for the batters and also to use in the current series with the Reds of Cincinnati.

Wallace is very careful of the men whom he knows will be with the team. He doesn't care to risk men like Powell, Lake and Pelty at this early stage of the game.

The fifth game of the series with the Reds will be played this afternoon at Majestic Park. After the game the players will be the guests of the Business Men's League of Hot Springs, at a dinner at the Forest Park Club.

A special train is to take the party to the club house, near Hot Springs. Pat Newnam got in the kid's line-up in yesterday's game with the Reds. His old weakness of dropping thrown balls was again evident. However, Manager Wallace believes that Pat will be able to hold them when the season opens.

Had a Bad Hand.

"Newnam dropped a lot of balls last season, because he played with a hand that was as sore as a boil," said Manager Wallace. "When we came here I told him to have his glove well-padded so that the thrown balls would not injure his hand. He is playing with a glove that is almost as thick as a catcher's, and quite naturally, he can't do as well as with a thinner-padded mitt. When his hand becomes hardened after the winter's lay-off, he will take out the padding and then watch him."

* * *

Hans Wagner has been here for almost a week, but few of the players of the clubs now at the Springs have seen the Flying Dutchman. He avoids the dining room when it is crowded, preferring to take his meals when the big hall is almost void of people.

Other players choose to sit in the lobby or on the porch of the hotel during their idle moments, but Wagner is never included in any of the fanning bees. He walks to the hotel desk, deposits or takes his key and darts out of the door to some secluded spot or to his room. Hans dislikes the limelight, even though he is an old timer in the baseball business.

"He has been that way ever since I have known him and will always be the same," said Owner Dreyfuss, in talking of Wagner's bashfulness.

* * *

Paul Krichell, the Browns' catching recruit from the Montreal (Eastern League) team, started in the baseball business with such well-known experts as Eddie Grant of the Reds, Jack Coombs of the Athletics and Dave Shean of the Cubs. They made their inaugural as professionals in the old Northern League, which included small towns in Vermont, New Hampshire and New York State.

* * *

"I was only a kid playing amateur baseball in and around New York City," said Krichell, "when I was asked if I wanted to make my living playing baseball. I said it suited me and then I was asked what I expected for salary. When told that I could make $50 a week, I asked them when the next train left for the town. I was certainly sore, though, when I learned that players on the same team were making $100 and $125 a week. A peculiar feature of that league was the fact that we were always paid on Monday nights."

* * *

Bill Bailey blames a horseback ride for his poor showing against the Reds, yesterday. Bailey took a ride with Bill Killefer, Frank Truesdale and a couple of other players, the other day, and like one unused to the sport, Bill felt the ill effects. He says most of his soreness settled in his left arm and shoulder. But be that as it may Bailey pitched about as miserable an exhibition as has ever been seen for two innings. He did everything but turn loose a wild pitch.

* * *

In the seventh inning Bailey allowed two hits, two passes and hit a batsman, which netted four runs. In the eighth inning five successive hits were made off the southpaw. He also made an error. That gave as many runs. The Reds won the game 13—2.

* * *

Roy Mitchel started the game, despite the fact that he claims he is at his best in warm weather. After the first inning in which two runs were made he did well and besides he seemed to have a lot of stuff on the ball. Mitchell, who hails from the Houston (Texas League) team, is one youngster who seems almost certain of success.

* * *

Gregory also pitched three innings but didn't do as well as on his last out. The Reds made two runs off him.

* * *

Gus Williams hit the most wicked drive of the series in the first inning off George McQuillan. It was a wallop just inside the third base line. But for the fence it would be going yet. Williams got a double on the rap. It drove in two runs. He also got two other hits, both singles, one was a drive to left and the other to right.

* * *

Hallinan made two fine fielding plays. He turned a double play unassisted in the third, when he jumped up for Grant's liner and stepped on third, getting Bates, who had started for home.

* * *

Hallinan also saved trouble for Gregory in the sixth when he caught a low thrown ball from Jay Clarke when Bescher and Egan turned a double steal. Both runners would have scored had not Hallinan grabbed onto the ball.

* * *

Bert Schotten pulled up with a lame ankle and will be on the shelf for awhile. Al Schweitzer subbed for him in the ninth.

PENNANT BEE IS REALLY BUZZING AT LEAGUE PARK

Stanley Robison in Earnest About Cardinals Chance to Win Championship.

NO INCREASE FOR KONEY

Owner of Club Thinks Big Ed's Contract Settles All Salary Argument.

M. Stanley Robison, president of the Cardinals, who Friday paid a flying visit to St. Louis to see his team practice, says he honestly believes that the Cardinals will finish in the first division this season, and that, if the pitching staff gets going at its best and the outfielders do a little better than last year, the club has an excellent chance to win the National League pennant.

A short time ago, when Mr. Robison was in New Orleans, the report was sent out that the Cardinals' owner thought that his team would win the pennant. This statement baseball men all over the country treated as a joke and cut loose with many witticisms at the expense of Mr. Robison. Many thought he had been misquoted.

Mr. Robison, however, figures the Cardinals' infield about as good as any in the National League. Last season the outfield did not do quite as well as expected, while the pitchers performed only fairly well.

According to Mr. Robison the pitchers will "deliver the goods" this year, and he is sure that the outfielders will also hit their stride, as they have had a year's experience with the club and are bound to work better together.

Off for Home City.

Mr. Robison arrived Thursday and will depart Saturday for Cleveland. He will next visit Cincinnati and does not expect to return to St. Louis until the opening of the spring series between the Cardinals and Browns, on March 25. He did not see the Cardinals work-out Thursday, and Friday the rain prevented him from getting a peek at his ball-players as, when he reached the park, it was raining and the squad after a short practice was forced to hike to the clubhouse. Bresnahan and Mr. Robison held a conference in regard to the affairs of the club.

The Cardinals' owner regards the spring series row as a mere tempest in a teapot. "I am not bothered one way or the other over the series," he stated. "When Wallace and Bresnahan get together, Monday, they will settle the argument as to whether or not there will be seven games in short order. This long-distance wordy war can be squashed by the two managers in five minutes' time if they are left to themselves.

Mr. Robison was asked as to what he intended to do in the matter of giving Ed Koney, his star first baseman, a boost in salary. Koney signed a three-year contract which has two years to run. Koney thought this season that he was entitled to a larger salary than what he had signed for.

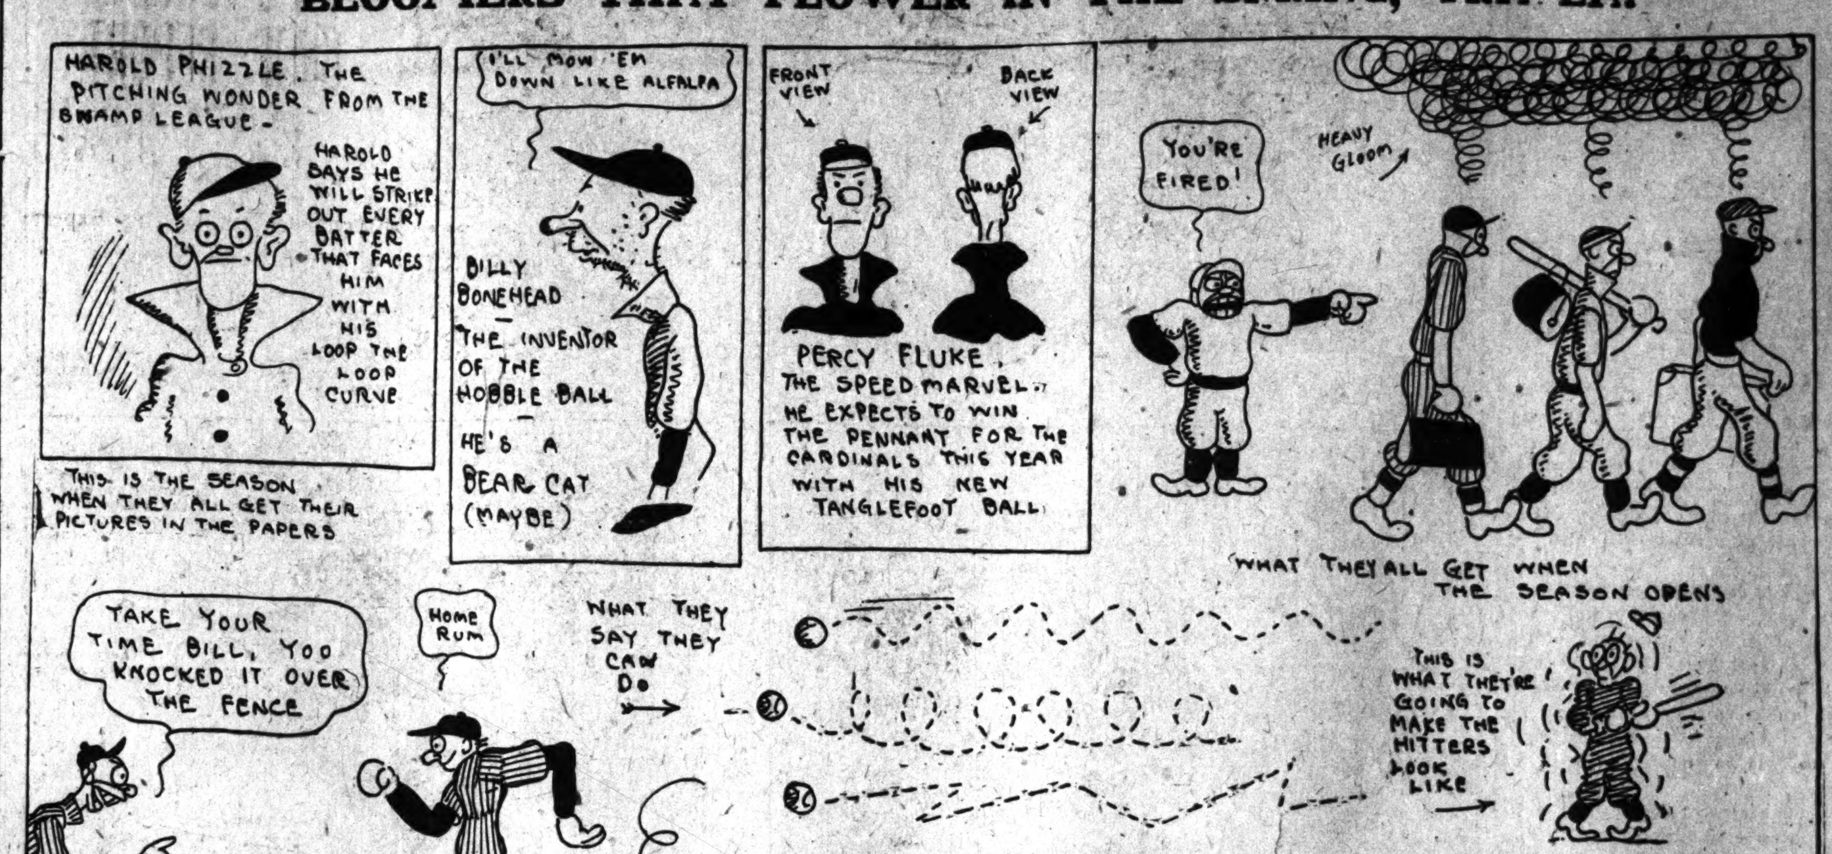

The Letter of the Bond.

Mr. Robison says that, while he was in Florida, Panama and other Southern states he did not receive any papers and did not want any, consequently he was not posted on the Koney case.

"I can't see where Koney has any argument coming," stated Mr. Robison. "He signed a three-year contract. That contract still has two years to go. That's all I know about it."

The Cardinal squad departed for Kansas City Friday night. Secretary Seekamp made arrangements whereby the men were able to pile into a sleeper at Union Station at 10 o'clock. The train did not leave until 11:30. Games are scheduled with the Kansas City Blues at Kansas City Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Bresnahan and his men are due back in St. Louis Monday morning for practice at League Park Monday afternoon, weather permitting.

BLOOMERS THAT FLOWER IN THE SPRING, TRA LA!

WRAY'S COLUMN

AFTER THE POT OF GOLD.

EVIDENTLY the wires were crossed in that Ad Wolgast retirement story. Far from quitting the game after the Memsic battle, Wolgast is preparing for a campaign which will probably take him through the list of eligibles now seeking his title. Wolgast is first to meet two coast "comers" who are believed to be able men—Burns and Lagrave.

Antone Lagrave, the "Butcher Boy," is the lad that put it over Battling Nelson, in a bout which was supposed to have served as a sort of polisher for "Come Back" Nelson. Instead of serving in the capacity mentioned, Lagrave proceeded to pound Bat cruelly, to the great damage of the former champion's reputation.

Frankie Burns is not the Eastern lad of the same name, who gave "Digger" Stanley the fastest run for his reputation he ever had. This Burns is a husky lightweight, one of the "iron man" type. He made a creditable showing against Owen Moran by hiding behind his gloves, a la Johnny Regan, so effectually that Moran could not find him with a search warrant.

These two men out of the road Wolgast will go after all the known stars. This lad is belying his promise of becoming the "real cheese champion." From fighting no fights at all, Wolgast wants to take them all on in a hurry. Nor can you blame him, when you figure that he can average $5000 per fight for a 10-round go.

Figuring that there are at least ten men to be treated in this manner, there's $50,000 in it for "Ad" in the space of a few months. And then, after all these, there come the real derby distance fights, which will net the big coin.

There's a real pot of gold at the end of this rainbow.

* * *

ASK AN EASIER ONE.

IF it takes three years to get a line on Bill Bailey, how long will George Stone last?

* * *

It's perfectly evident that what the fight game in Missouri needs is not a new boxing law, but a New York magistrate who can throw away evidence expertly.

* * *

Wallace could let about four of those youngsters go now without being accused of undue haste. Several of the green 'uns are merely clogging the way of regulars who ought to be getting in shape by this time.

* * *

The reserved seat idea at League Park will meet approval at all homes where late Sunday dinners are the habit. This thing of scorching the palate with hot soup and running away from dessert in order to see the game in comfort has its drawbacks, unless one happens to be a gastronomic acrobat.

* * *

Every now and then, when a champion of the lightweight division gets into bad odor with the fans, they take him out to Los Angeles and rehabilitate him at the expense of George Memsic.

* * *

Florance Curran, chairman of the Registration Committee of the Western A. A. U., refused to believe that 15 of the men to whom he had given amateur boxing cards had been temporarily suspended. About 1915 the Registration Committee will be looking over the 1911 calendar for up-to-date happenings.

* * *

NOT ALL DEAD, YET.

EVIDENCES that there is still a live one or two in the athletics world here is manifest in the entry list for the M. A. C. indoor meet. In point of varied representation the event is really the best one in the history of indoor athletics of St. Louis. At least six colleges and universities are represented and for once the contests will not be made up of two classes, the purely local and special features for men who outclass St. Louis athletes. Martin Delaney was wont to make a big noise by bringing stars of other localities here to do exhibition stunts. These were, perhaps, interesting to watch, but lacked zest to those who like competition. In the present meet every event seems to offer a real contest and the relays are made up of the pick of athletes of the West.

If the energy devoted to this meet is continued in promoting other local affairs in the future, athletics should prosper in spite of the A. A. U.

* * *

COMING WITH A RATTLE.

SENOR PIERRE MAUPOME—the name reads as though one ought to write monsieur, instead of senor—is practicing diligently at the three cushion billiard game in order to be fit to dispose of Campbell of Philadelphia, when that player comes for the final three games of the St. Louis schedule in the Inter-City League.

Of course, St. Louis is practically a winner, now; but lest the idea get abroad that it's all over, it might be as well to understand that Pittsburg can still afford to lose two games and yet tie the Mound City for first place. All of the other clubs are out of the hunt.

Pittsburg has won 13 successive contests. The team, which consists of one gentleman named Wireback, has 12 more to play. To a man who has won 13 straight games the task of winning 10 out of 12 seems not so stupendous. If St. Louis should be unlucky and lose the series to Philadelphia, the Pittsburg chances would be all the better.

However, all of Pittsburg's games have been won on the home table, which seems to have angles of its own, entirely apart from the general run, according to descriptions of visiting players. It is significant to note that on the road, so far, Pittsburg has proven a dismal failure, winning but two games out of nine played.

WOLGAST ARRESTED AFTER MEMSIC BOUT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 18.—After George Memsic and Ad Wolgast had recovered from the effects of their battle for the lightweight championship at the Vernon arena, yesterday afternoon, in which Wolgast was declared the winner of a bout scheduled to go 10 rounds both men were arrested on charges of having participated in a prize fight.

Wolgast was too strong for Memsic. After the first round, in which Memsic threw Wolgast to the floor, slightly dazing the champion, Memsic never had a look-in. Memsic was staggering from the effects of a series of rights and lefts in the ninth round and Wolgast was about to put over a knockout punch when Referee Eyton stepped in, stopped the bout and awarded Wolgast the decision.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF HOPPE'S EXPULSION

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1911, by Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PARIS, March 18.—The police surprised the billiard word Thursday night by insisting that Willie Hoppe, the young American player, shall not play here. Consequently it is believed Hoppe has left for America. The trouble grows out of his having played in games on which betting was done when he was here before.

Demarest continues to play, but he is worried lest the police include him in the drastic order.

In many quarters it is believed that Hoppe's trouble was caused by jealousy between local billiardists who own rival halls. Early this year Hoppe broke the 18.2 balkline record made by Cure a few days before Hoppe's arrival. Cure's record was 581 points, but Hoppe ran 622 points.

Both Hoppe and Demarest are the idols of the French billiard world.

OLD MODOC CLUB STAR TO COACH NORTH END CREW

Fred Gastreich to Take Charge of Ambitious North Side Crews.

Fred Gastreich, a member of the old Modoc Club, one of the best single scullers and allround oarsmen who ever pulled a scull or sweep on the Mississippi River, has been formally appointed coach of the North End Rowing Club. Gastreich had only one rival in the local rowing world at the time he was at his best, and that was Koenig, who won the national championship. Koenig stuck to the rowing game but a short time, and while he was rowing confined himself to the singles. Gastreich was as much at home in a barge or four as when seated in a single. He was a finished oarsman and for that reason is expected to develop a number of stars at the Centrals.

The North Ends have not been doing much for a number of years in the rowing game, although the club has a large number of shells that are the equal of any in the harbor. The Centrals came to the front suddenly, a couple of years ago, when Mike Begley, Joe Formanack and a couple of other veterans took hold of the crews and the North End members are hoping that Gastreich will be able to do equally as well with the wearers of the black jerseys.

The North Ends have elected the following officers: Clem J. Blankenmeister, president; E. Hausstatte, vice-president; F. Oberbeck, recording secretary; E. Knollhoff, financial secretary; H. Wempen, treasurer; P. Hellebrand, captain; E. Schaefer, lieutenant; H. Kitzing, E. C. Sommers and T. F. Bond, directors, and James Bromwich, sergeant-at-arms.

JAP VARSITY NINE SEEKING GAME HERE

Keio University of Japan has reopened negotiations with St. Louis University for a game, to be played with Johnny Bender's nine in this city May 13 or 15. Bender replied that he would be unable to play on the dates suggested by Keio, because St. Louis U. already has games scheduled. Bender suggested that Keio play in St. Louis a week later. The Keio team's American representative called off its original schedule with American college teams because Waseda, another Japanese university nine, was to make a trip to the United States at the same time that Keio was booked to play in this country.

O'Neil Wins Roller Race.

Ray O'Neil won the one-mile city championship roller skating race at the Jai Alai rink, Friday night. Jim Shaw was the only other skater to finish. Rocco Florita, the former champion, dropped out in the tenth lap. Byrne Padon fell while on the eighth lap. O'Neil received a gold medal for his victory. The time was 3m. 21s., and was slower than expected.

Tips and Cues

Payton will play Lamm in the pool tournament game, and Hutchings and Zell will clash in the billiard event at the Rex, Saturday night. Moore defeated Layton, 40 to 37 in the billiard match, Friday night. It was the first game that Layton has lost.

Palmer, 33; Stevenson, 26 and Austin, 33; Du Four, 33, were the results of Friday night's games.

Solthard and Fuller are scheduled for the innovation billiard tournament game at Peterson's, Saturday evening. Stock defeated Bush, 175 to 78 Friday.

Skiff, 35; Fremy, 10 and Hirsch, 35; Dobmeyer, 28, were the results of Friday's games.

Wolgast to Take on Two More Scrappers

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—In addition to the La Grave-Wolgast match announced yesterday it was announced last night that arrangements have been completed for a match between Wolgast and Frankie Burns here, probably in the last week in May.

The match was made by Jimmy Coffroth, now in Los Angeles. The men will weigh in at 133 pounds ringside. Coffroth is said to have guaranteed Wolgast a purse of $7500 for his share of the prize money and Burns will get 20 per cent of the gross receipts.

CITY TOURNEY ALLEYS OPENED

The new Langtry, McBride & Qualey tenpin bowling alleys, on the fourth and fifth floors of the building, at the southeast corner of Eighth street and Washington avenue, representing an investment of $23,000, will be opened Saturday. It is on these runs that the annual City Tenpin Association handicap tournament will be held, starting next Saturday. A record-breaking list of 284 five-men teams and 1102 individuals has entered for this tournament.

The new alleys are the same 16 runs on which the A. B. C. international tournament was recently held in the Coliseum. The alleys have been planed, although used for less than three weeks. Every new wrinkle known to the bowling game has been supplied, including a bunch of lightweight three-finger mineralite balls for beginners.

McBride, who is a partner of Abe Langtry, is expected from Milwaukee Wednesday. Langtry, who is secretary of the A. B. C., is not expected until the latter part of next week.

ST. ROSE MEN TO GET CHANCE AT FOOTBALL TITLE

St. Leos Agree to Play, if They Win From St. Teresas on Sunday.

Billy Klosterman, manager of the champion St. Leo soccer team, stated Saturday morning that if his team defeats the St. Teresas in their game at Athletic Park Sunday afternoon he is willing to have his team play the St. Roses for the city championship the following Sunday.

There was some talk of the St. Teresas and St. Leos having signed a three-game agreement. Last Sunday the St Teresas and St. Leos played a tie game, 2—2. The St. Leos were the champions of the Athletic Park League, while the St. Teresas are the winners of the pennant in the St. Louis U. Park League. They were playing a championship game therefore there should have been no tie, as in championship games the rules call for the teams to play extra 15-minute periods in case of a tie until one team scores a decisive goal in one of the extra sessions.

These rules will be lived up to Sunday, so that the only chance for a tie will be darkness to put a stop to the game.

The St. Roses are the amateur champions and last Sunday defeated the Yawitz team, champions of the Kulage Park League. The game Sunday at Athletic Park will be started at 2:30 o'clock.

GREAT FIELD TO START IN SPRINT EVENT TONIGHT

Pick of the W. A. A. U. Dash Men Will Go to Post in 50-Yard Race.

RELAYS FURNISH FEATURE

Most Important Will Be Meeting of Teams From Three Universities.

Although the usual protests have been made over the handicaps allowed by Theodoric Bland for the athletic meet to be held at the First Regiment Armory Saturday night, under the auspices of the Missouri A. C., the event promises to be one of the best indoor competitions ever run off in St. Louis.

The best athletes in the Middle West will clash, including men from Drake, Missouri, Kansas, St. Louis and Washington universities, as well as the crack teams from the Missouri A. C. and Kansas City A. C. and a number of smaller schools and organizations.

Relay races will be the feature events on the card. Missouri has a crack relay team which recently won from the Kansas quartet in a great race at Kansas City. St. Louis U. will be the third contender when these teams clash Saturday night. Each man will run a quarter of a mile. Another great relay race will be the meeting of the two-mile relay team from Missouri and the Drake University four. Each man in this race will run a half mile.

Great Field in Dashes.

The 50-yard dash invitation should furnish a great contest. It would not be surprising to see the record equaled in this event. Carl Forline, scratch man for the 50-yard handicap, will compete in this race and if he is able to win will be satisfied not to even place in any other event on the program.

Dr. Bassett, director of athletics at the M. A. C., announces that the meet will be started promptly at 8:15 p. m. and any man not ready at that time will not be allowed to compete. Dr. Bassett is sure that he will have the last race finished at 10:30 p. m.

WASHINGTON CLUB TO REBUILD STAND

CHICAGO, March 18.—In a response to a message sent by President Thomas C. Noyes of the Washington American League Club, President B. B. Johnson of the American League, will hurry to Washington this evening for a conference relative to the immediate erection of new steel grand stands and bleachers to replace those destroyed by fire yesterday. The executive will be accompanied East by Treasurer W. H. Rapley of the Washington club, who stopped off in Chicago yesterday on his way to French Lick.

He canceled all vacation plans on receipt of the news that the stands had been burned and will return to the capital city, to assist in supervising the work of erecting new stands.

Post-Dispatch's Complete Daily Record of Markets and Finance

STOCK TRADING IS CONFINED TO A FEW ISSUES

Leaders Trend Upward and Final Prices Show Sharp Gains.

BANK RETURN IS FAIR

Figures Show Only Minor Changes in Important Items.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

Nothing of interest occurred on the Stock Exchange. Prices opened fractionally lower, then the market grew extremely dull, but moved up with somewhat increased activity towards the close, more than regaining early losses.

The actual week-end bank statement showed a slightly strong position. Cash increased $2,100,000, and since loans and deposits expanded very little, surplus reserves are left $1,300,000 larger. It exceeds the surplus reported at this date in all of the dozen past years except 1908.

The statement by daily averages is less favorable; it shows larger loan expansion than the week-end showing, a loss instead of a gain in cash, and therefore decrease instead of increase in the surplus. But this means only that conditions were better in the second half of the week than in the first.

Overnight news was not important. The U. S. Steel Corporation's annual report shows earnings on the common stock of 12.25 per cent in 1910, against 10.48 per cent in 1909. The strike among the New York teamsters is spreading. The Mexican situation is, if anything, more unfavorable. Wall Street expects the Harriman lines to offer rights to stockholders in connection with their new financing.

The weekly reports of the leading mercantile agencies were irregular. Bradstreet's says:

"Distributive trade is still quiet, more so, perhaps, than in recent weeks, because visiting buyers have returned home to await indications of the trend of spring retail distributions. The latter branch of trade has been, in turn, checked by a cool snap, which overspread a large area of the West and North, and which, while not sufficient to stimulate demand for left-over winter goods, has operated to retard business for spring wear.

"In the industries the features are a rather less eager movement to buy iron and steel, but against this is a larger capacity employed in furnace and mill than for many months. Buying continues conservative, the railways are purchasing in a cautious way, and the higher prices demanded for pig iron have apparently superinduced something of a lull in that market."

Dun's review says:

"Recent improvement in trade is very slow, irregular and conservative and is chiefly in evidence in iron and steel, in which there is a larger demand for structural materials; a more cheerful sentiment regarding pig iron and better mill conditions in finished materials. The volume of transactions is somewhat under that of last year's, but is generally larger than in the preceding quarter, while business sentiment is helped by the hopeful outlook for crops."

DETAILED REPORTS OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 18.—Some heaviness was shown at the opening of the stock market today. Missouri Pacific declined to 51⅛ and Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific lost ⅛ and Reading and National Lead ⅛. Soo Line gained ⅜.

Bear operators uncovered stop-loss orders in Missouri Pacific and the execution of these sent it down to 49⅞, a loss of 1⅜. Supporting orders and covering of shorts caused a rally to 50⅝. The general market followed the course of Missouri Pacific to only a slight extent. Great Northern lost 1.

The market closed strong. A mixture of short covering and buying orders wiped out practically all early losses and many gains were scored. Union Pacific, United States Steel and New York Central making gains of a point or more, with complete recovery in Missouri Pacific. Substantial gains were made by National Biscuit and other specialties.

BACHE'S LETTER.

J. S. Bache's weekly Wall street review to Lorenzo E. Anderson says:

"General business is not keeping up its pace of increase which marked the latter weeks of February, but inasmuch as movements for betterment, after long periods of dullness, are rarely steady, but are marked by swings back and forth, this is probably merely the slight business reaction from a moderate quickening.

"Many underlying conditions continue favorable. Exports show favorable increase and imports good declines, for the month of February and for the two first weeks of March, keeping up the gratifying pace away from the abnormal position of adverse trade balances which prevailed a little more than a year ago. The money situation has not changed, except perhaps for still further betterment, as shown by the Bank of England's gain in gold holdings of $7,500,000 for the week, bringing its total gold stock up to very high figures, only once exceeded in 14 years at this similar period. The long prevalent hand-to-mouth business of the country, by gradually exhausting stocks of goods, has laid the foundation for at least a reasonable revival not far in the future, barring, of course, adverse happenings."

HOGS—A good supply of hogs arrived for Saturday, and the market was on a lower basis. Good pigs and lightweight shippers were weak to 5c lower, while medium and heavy hogs were 5@10c lower, most of the heavy hogs showing a loss of 10c. The top of the market was $7.12½ for light shippers, while the bulk of the hogs of all weights sold at $6.85@7.05. Packers were bearish and forced the market down as much as possible. They secured their hogs largely at $6.75@6.95, butchers paid $6.95@7.05, while the shippers paid $7 and up for what good hogs they bought. Poor grade pigs and lights were slow sellers, as there was little demand for them, and they went from $5@6.50, while roughs sold at $6.25@6.75.

HUSBAND MADE LIGHT OF RELATIVES, CHARGE

On That and Other Grounds Charles B. Gibson's Wife Asks Divorce and Alimony.

Mrs. Cora Daniels Gibson of 4179 West Belle place wants a divorce from Charles B. Gibson, a real estate dealer, because, she says, he was overbearing to her, made light of her relatives, because he has been dictatorial to her and on numerous occasions has refused to speak to her. She filed her petition in the Circuit Court Friday afternoon.

They were married June 29, 1907. They lived with his parents for eighteen months and then with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Daniels, up to the time of the separation. Mrs. Gibson says she does not know where her husband is now.

She says her husband is worth $50,000, of which $20,000 is real estate, and she asks alimony.

Mrs. Gibson declined Saturday to discuss the suit.

Cardinal Aids Burned College.

BALTIMORE, March 18.—It was announced here that Cardinal Gibbons had subscribed $20,000 to the fund for rebuilding St. Charles College and that a telegram had been received from the Archbishop of California, offering substantial aid.

SNOW'S KANSAS CROP REPORT ROUTS SHORTS

Recent Advices of This Expert Were Bearish, Today's Bullish.

B. W. Snow, so-called crop expert, whipsawed the wheat trade Saturday. Snow has been covering Kansas in a motor car reporting winter wheat conditions for a Chicago house. Up until this morning, his reports on the growing grain have been universally favorable and bearish. The trade, following him, sold values steadily down and got heavily short. Today Snow shifted the cut, and startled the trade with a very bullish Kansas forecast. The scramble of shorts to cover put wheat up rather sharply.

The wire that started the movement came from Kansas. It said: "Motored 160 miles through Rice, Barton, Rush, Pawnee, Edwards and Ford Counties. East of Great Bend wheat situation is entirely satisfactory and outlook better than normal. West of there, there is a marked change in prospects, which grows rapidly poor towards the Southwest quarter of the State. There is very large acreage in western counties, where the plant is very small and stands thin, and a material percentage where it is only beginning to germinate, and where careful examination shows stand will be far below normal.

"Some fields are already disced into oats, and it is impossible to determine, at this stage, whether enough will sprout to warrant any crop. There are at least a million acres in the section covered, that range from a fairly good prospect, down to fields where there is not a sign of grain, although soil and moisture conditions are perfect."

The Bartlett Frazier Co., through their local representative, A. C. Petri, have issued the following interesting circular on the growing crop:

"So much in the way of crop result depends upon the stored-up moisture supply available for plant sustenance that a showing of moisture situation before the period of growth begins is of the greatest importance. The U. S. Weather Bureau furnishes data of monthly rainfall at a large number of observing stations throughout the corn and wheat belt, and when these data are tabulated so as to show average rainfall for each State, it becomes possible to measure with some degree of accuracy the present reserve moisture supply.

"The rainfall and snowfall which have been received between October 1 and Feb. 28, when compared with the average of the same precipitation for past years, may be taken as fairly indicating the soil moisture condition now in comparison with an average year. The total precipitation for the whole period, however, is of less importance than is its distribution, because rainfall toward the close of the period gives more result in the way of present soil moisture than does the rainfall of last October.

"For this reason, in the following statement there is given first the total precipitation of the four months, October to January inclusive, followed by a showing of the moisture supply in February. The importance of this division will be appreciated when it is considered that an inch of rain in February is much more effective in creating a present moisture supply than several inches last October. In each case a column is added to show the percentage of the supply in comparison with the normal."

	—Oct. to Jan.— Normal Inches.	1910-11 Inches.	—February— Normal Inches.	1911 Inches.
Tennessee	15.90	12.90	4.88	4.35
Kentucky	13.23	13.81	3.39	2.88
Ohio	10.45	11.54	2.46	1.89
Michigan	9.89	7.37	2.04	2.25
Indiana	10.64	8.76	2.82	1.78
Illinois	9.38	6.88	2.29	2.89
Wisconsin	7.23	3.70	1.37	2.52
Minnesota	5.75	2.62	3.82	5.08
N. Dakota	3.23	2.25	.56	.69
S. Dakota	3.48	1.77	.54	1.01
Iowa	6.34	2.75	1.12	2.74
Missouri	9.18	5.90	2.17	3.35
Kansas	4.74	1.70	1.08	4.54
Nebraska	3.78	1.65	.88	1.59
Oklahoma	7.80	2.32	1.50	2.82
Texas	10.55	6.39	2.41	2.87

"From these official data it will be noted that the country in the wheat and corn sections was very dry during the period from October to January, and that on the contrary there has been a very decided excess of moisture in February in practically every section. In Kansas for example there was four times as much rainfall in February as usual, all of which came with no frost in the ground and therefore was entirely absorbed by the soil.

"In the spring wheat belt March and April are the months for receipt of spring moisture, but this year February has brought decidedly more than normal.

"For the present there appears sufficient moisture everywhere to start spring crops, and there should be enough reserve from these heavy February rains to take care of plant growth if the future season is normal."

Liverpool prices opened easy and then scored a fractional decline on favorable reports from Argentine and India and liberal Plata offers at Friday's close. The selling was augmented by fears of bearish weekly statistics, favorable reports from Russia and reports of large interior stocks indicating free offers from that country.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅛@¼d lower; corn ¼d lower. Paris wheat ¼@½c up, flour ½c up to ½c down. Berlin wheat ¾c up and Antwerp unchanged.

Minneapolis receipts of wheat today were 212 cars, against 221 last week, 201 last year and 60 two years ago. Duluth received 6 cars; last week 5, last year 103 and two years ago 95. Winnipeg had 245, against 171 last week and 122 last year.

Local wheat receipts today, 56,100 bu or 43 cars local, 3 through; last year, 37,000 bu or 36 cars local, 1 through.

Local corn receipts today, 85,150 bu or 460 sacks, 64 cars local, 6 through; last year, 316,640 bu or 24 sacks, 33 cars local, 1 through.

Local oats receipts today were 51,000 bu or 25 cars local, 5 through; last year, 60,000 bu or 31 cars local, 7 through.

Chicago wheat receipts today were 31,200 bu against 84,000 bu last year; shipments, 10,509 bu against 35,300 bu last year.

Kansas City wheat receipts today were 37,200 bu against 50,400 bu last year; shipments, 76,800 bu against 98,700 bu last year.

Total primary wheat receipts today were 434,257 bu against 620,349 bu last year; shipments, 207,630 bu against 247,770 bu last year.

The corn market was strong and higher in sympathy with wheat. Cables were ¼d lower on favorable Argentine reports, also India. Shorts were the best buyers. Oats were firm in the local market.

Cash wheat closed steady and quiet, offerings small. Local mills buyers of soft wheat.

Cash corn firm with offerings well taken by local buyers.

Cash oats steady for white; mixed nominally higher.

COTTON MARKET IRREGULAR ON POOR TRADE REPORTS

NEW YORK, March 18.—The cotton market opened barely steady at an advance of 3 points on March, which was influenced by better cables than due and continued good spot sales in the English market, but generally 3 to 6 points lower in response to over-night selling orders attributed to disappointment over the showing of the national ginners' report and some fresh selling inspired by reports of good rains in Texas and cuts in the price of leading brands of cotton goods by one of the large Western distributors. The market found support, however, around 14.30c for May and 14.33c for July, or about 5 to 6 points under the closing figures of yesterday and fluctuations during the middle of the morning were narrow, with business dull and with the trade evidently inclined to wait for the report of the Census Bureau on Monday.

Futures closed very steady. Closing bids: March, 14.39c; April, 14.45c; May, 14.[illegible]; June, 14.37c; July, 14.33c; Aug., 13.[illegible]; Sept., 13.04c; Oct., 12.64c; Nov., 12.[illegible]; Dec., 12.53c; Jan., 12.51c. Spot closed quiet, 10 points lower. Middling uplands, 14.65c; middling gulf, 14.90c; no sales.

WOOL TRUST CUTS STOCK.

BOSTON, March 18.—At the head office of the American Woolen Co. here today it was announced that the directors of the corporation had voted to reduce the common stock of $30,000,000 to $20,000,000. The action of the directors will be submitted to stockholders for approval at a special meeting in Jersey City on April 28.

It is expected in mill circles that the common stockholders will ratify the new plan under which they expect to receive dividends. The corporation controls 34 mills in New England and New York State. It figured largely in last year's tariff debates and hearing at Washington, where the low-tariff men usually referred to it as the "Woolen Trust."

The company has been secretly acquiring common stock during the last few months and at present holds in its treasury the entire 100,000 shares which it is proposed to wipe out. Of this amount 4000 shares had been in the treasury unused. It is also announced that the existing common stockholders will not be called upon to part with any of their stock.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

United States Steel Corporation.

For the purposes of the annual meeting of stockholders to be held April 17, 1911, the stock transfer books will be closed from 3 P. M. March 20 to 10 A. M. April 18.

By order of the Board of Directors.

$3 BRIDGE WORK A TOOTH

ABOUT THE MOUTH AND TEETH.

The mouth is the prime factor of beauty and the most expressive feature of the human countenance. The whole face loses its charm if the mouth exhibits a lot of decayed, unsightly teeth. You can keep your countenance beautiful if your teeth are properly cared for. "Teeth pullers" will destroy the beauty of the teeth, but a reliable dentist will improve your looks by saving your teeth instead of destroying them.

It would seem that everyone would want nothing but the best in dentistry, but many people will sacrifice lasting quality for low price and in the end the work is no good.

Special Prices Until March 20

Best Set of Teeth......$3.00
Gold Crowns, 22k......$3.00
Bridge Work, per tooth..$3.00
Gold Filling.........75c up
Teeth Extracted.........25c

Have impressions taken in the morning and get teeth same day. Examination and advice free.

REVIEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Picture Review.

("The Vanity Box," by Alice Stuyvesant. Doubleday, Page & Co.)

"KEEPING UP WITH LIZZIE," BY IRVING BACHELLER.

When Lizzie Henshaw went to school
She had no very great ambition,
And Pointview was a placid pool
With no pretense to erudition.
The simple life was good enough
For this small town and its affairs
Till Lizzie, getting up to snuff,
Returned from College with her airs.

Whereat Dan Pettigrew, her beau,
Discovering his lowly station,
And all the things he didn't know,
Alike set out for cultivation,
And all the other girls in town,
Who up to that time had been busy
Inconsequentially got down
To work at keeping up with Lizzie.

"We're off!" said Socrates, the seer,
Whose subsequent surname was Potter,
Observing, as it would appear,
The simple life begin to totter.
And sure enough, from matters plain
And simple-minded contemplation
Of what in no wise was mundane,
The town began its transformation.

At Papa Henshaw's grocery
The cost of Lizzie's education,
Together with what had to be
By way of other ostentation,
Resulted in a boosting of
The cost of living till it rested
So far and hopelessly above
What people earned that they protested.

At which the whole community
Put up the current scale of prices,
And dinner, which was wont to be
Of ham and eggs, included ices
From thrift and counter thrift it turned
To such improvidence of honey,
That half the people in it yearned
To borrow Mr. Potter's money.

The phonograph and limousine
Began to squawk and honk around,
And madam would become a queen
Of fashion exquisitely gowned.
The price of money went so high
That all the financiers grew dizzy,
And notwithstanding Potter's "Why?"
The town went right on after Lizzie.

A very funny tale is this,
And one that very likely could,
With very slight analysis,
Do all of us a lot of good.
Of Lizzies there are everywhere
So many that, with being shown,
Each one of us could here and there
Give up some folly of his own.
(Harpers.)

EXPLAINING AN ORATOR'S POWER.

In the Winter of 1862-3, a body of Illinois troops, about five miles from Lexington, Tenn., were attacked by Bedford Forest's cavalry in overwhelming force. Some of the Federals were fresh troops. They had never "felt the terrifying potency of the Rebel yell" until the "formidable Forest," whose habit it was often to lead his men into danger swept down on them. The time came when the recruits did what the most sensible veterans would have done under the same circumstances. Technically speaking, they "retired from their position." In fact, they ran away as fast as they could. Even the Union gunners who had worked their gun until an Alabama officer was reported by the Confederates as "killed within fifteen feet of its muzzle," finally ran with the utmost discretion and speed, leaving an Illinois Colonel at the guns as their sole representative when Forest rode up.

"Who commands those troops?" asked the Confederate general, pointing toward some of the flying cavalrymen.

"I don't know," said the Federal colonel.

"Who was in command," amended the general.

"If you'll keep the secret, I'll tell you," said Ingersoll. "I was."

There are other stories of this kind, even if there is no other quite so good, in the new biography of Robert G. Ingersoll, by Herman E. Kittredge. From every standpoint, except that of its theology and metaphysics, it will attract readers whose views now may be as conflicting as those of Ingersoll and Forest were when they first met under difficulties. The sequel of the meeting between two humorists of their caliber (both seriously misunderstood in their generation and afterwards) is that they became instantaneous friends and remained so "for life." After enjoying Ingersoll for three days, Forest paroled him. He came back to St. Louis as a paroled prisoner, and finally went into Illinois politics, resigning from the army, because his parole then lost its force in preventing him from using what was always his most effectively dangerous weapon—his wonderful voice.

A great deal of the volume which Mr. Kittredge calls "An Appreciation," is devoted to the almost supernatural results of this voice in the control of Ingersoll's audiences. No doubt Mr. Kittredge is entirely right in attributing this not to nature only but to nature controlled by education through the most careful art. Ingersoll's most admired passages break up into blank verse with ease, as when after giving examples of poetry Mr. Kittredge quotes this in prose form:

"They died for liberty; they died for us. They are at rest. They sleep in the land they made free, under the flag they rendered stainless, under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows, the embracing vines:

They died for liberty.
They died for us. They are at rest.
They sleep in the land they made free,
Under the flag they rendered stainless;
Under the solemn pines,
The sad hemlocks, the tearful willows,
The embracing vines.

Often Ingersoll is much nearer to exact verse-forms than in this, in which he uses both verse-measure and rhyme, the latter, as recommended by Cicero, on verse forms in oratory, with caution.

But although such art reinforced his natural abilities until he controlled thousands through their "ear for music," he made this a grave fault in the eloquence which, as Mr. Kittredge thinks, puts him first among the orators of the Nineteenth Century. As his voice was actually heard, his artful appeal to the ear for music may be an important fact of his control over those his voice reached. He decided the question of whether modern people "care for poetry" by controlling them under its laws, often when they were hostile to his ideas. But when this is printed as "prose eloquence" it is too obviously artistic. If Ingersoll, who "read everything," learned it from Cicero, he disregarded Cicero's warning against being obviously artistic. (Dresden Pub. Co.)

"EVE'S SECOND HUSBAND."

Since Elizabeth Stuart Phelps did her best work 20 years ago, no American woman has written quite so intimately and incisively in the feminine first person as does Corra Harris, the lately discovered Southern authoress, whose second notable book has just appeared.

Comparison is inevitable between the new volume and Mrs. Harris' book of a few months ago, "A Circuit Rider's Wife." The comparison has already been made by a host of weekly readers, who, recalling the surprising emotional power of the first story, have eagerly devoured the "Eve" narrative.

From the nature of its subject, the new book has hardly the range of the other. It certainly does not go so high, and perhaps not so deep. But it is, as was the former book, a keenly-drawn picture of life in small communities, and it gives a sane and optimistic view of the problems of marriage. Or, rather, of a marriage. One somehow has a feeling that of the two books, this second one was written first.

Eva Langston's first husband, who died opportunely, was a negligible quantity. Her second, Adam by name, was more of a success at other things than he was as a husband. From his conduct she soon learned that "a man is like a tomcat in some ways." In the hours she spent alone by her lighted window, before the end of the honeymoon, she formed a determination not to submit to the inevitable. "The inevitable in marriage is a form of wifely enmity and general damnation. When a woman begins to get the use of words like 'anguish' and 'resignation,' she has really got her own little sniveling divorce, and if she is living with her husband at all, it is in a relation as ugly as though it were illicit. She has ceased to be his better half, and is working on her crown of thorns and practicing her role of martyrdom. She does not know it, but she has really turned against him. This is the most common form of marital infidelity."

Adam, a county-seat editor and a rising politician, had in a way shown Eve what she had to expect when, in his proposal, as odd a one as fiction ever recorded, he had said: "I am not a good man. I have to be redeemed over and over. I need you for that. It is no easy life I am offering you, and not much happiness; but if you will marry me, I promise you shall be the wife of the Governor of this State. If you don't I'll be damned. I can't help it. I am by nature a sort of fizzle."

He had a way later of letting himself down easily by quoting Scripture, as. "Don't you remember how it is written somewhere in the Bible that God winked at certain things? Well, He's winking yet." At times he presumed too far on this divine propensity, and if temptation, perchance, failed to seek him, the reader is led to believe, he sought it.

It took all the grace and patience of the calm-souled and broad-bosomed Eve, fitting namesake of the mother of mankind, to redeem Adam over and over the number of times that his delinquencies required. He kept his promise that she should be the Governor's wife. The reader might doubt whether the fleeting honor was worth the price Eve paid for it, but for two things—their children, to whom she told her "one persistent maternal lie, that their father was one of the best men in the world;" and her own love for her husband. (Altemus.)

SPARGO'S SOCIALISM.

The seventh edition of John Spargo's "The Common Sense of Socialism" has been issued together with a suggested course of reading on Socialism. The book is in the form of letters to Jonathan Edwards of Pittsburg. As Edwards is supposed to be a workingman the letters are in the easiest style. No technical phrases or words are used. Statistics appear to a limited extent. Every possible phase of the subject is covered. The book is both an exposition of Socialism and a reply to the usual objections made by opponents.

Spargo asks Edwards to memorize this definition of Socialism:

"Under Socialism the State would own and control only those things which could not be owned and controlled by individuals without giving them undue advantage over the community, by enabling them to extract profits from the labor of others."

In answering the frequent accusation that Socialism would destroy the family Spargo points to the fact that the family is being destroyed today by those who force the mother to leave the home and go into the shop and factory. Here is part of the argument in Spargo's own words:

"There will never be safety for the home and the family so long as babies are robbed of their mother's care; so long as little children are made to do the work of men; so long as girls who are to be wives and mothers are sent into wifehood and motherhood unprepared, simply because the years of maidenhood are spent in factories that ought to be spent in preparation for wifehood and motherhood. Here is capitalism cutting at the very heart of the home, with Socialism as the only defender of the home which it is charged with attacking. For Socialism would give the child its right to childhood; it would give the mother her freedom to nourish her babe; it would give fathers and mothers of the future the opportunities for preparation they cannot now enjoy.

The book ends with an invitation to Jonathan Edwards to join the Socialist party and not only to be a Socialist, but to make one every time he has a chance. (Kerr.)

HISTORY MADE VISIBLE.

This unique book bears the subtitle, "Croscup's Synchronic Chart of United States History." Except for the chart, it only differs from the ordinary historical dictionary in that its arrangement is in chronological sequence. The chart is the thing. It unfolds out of the book to a width of six pages, and is a most ingenious and valuable publication. Upon it each important event of our national history is set down in such a way that its relation to every other event, both as to time and place, may be readily observed. Each of the states has its separate place. Its individual history is traced from the time it was a territory, its relation to other states is recorded and its connection with the nation is set down. The relation of our country to other nations is also shown, and events of European history bearing upon our own history are briefly recalled. The influence of other nations upon our own is indicated by color, yellow for the period of Spanish reign, red for England, etc. All this is kept in chronological order by lines dividing the chart into centuries and quarter centuries. It is, indeed, visible history. (Windsor Pub. Co.)

THE AMERICAN SHOTGUN.

Here is a beautiful book which any sportsman will delight to have in his library. It is written by Charles Askins, an expert in the mechanism, the care and the use of guns, and an authority upon all our American game. Mr. Askins is of the opinion that all our shotguns will in time be automatics. The English will have none of this Yankee device, insisting that it is too deadly and unsportsmanlike, but Mr. Askins points out that while the Briton clings to his double-barreled gun, he nevertheless is very fond of having a gunbearer behind him with a second double-barreled gun, which gives him four shots in almost the same period of time required by an American to fire as many shots from his repeater or his automatic. There is a movement in the United States to have the rapid-fire shotgun proscribed by law, but the use of it has by this time become so general that a general adoption of such a law through the States would be almost too much of a revolution to be seriously considered, at least while game is comparatively abundant. It would seem that if the game laws limit the number of birds one may kill in a day, it could not much matter whether he killed them with one kind of gun or another. Mr. Askins takes no part in the controversy, contenting himself with the history of American gun-making, a great deal of good advice about caring for a gun and shooting it, and interesting facts of the feathered chase which constitute what every sportsman should know. The book is profusely illustrated. (Outing.)

The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company

NOTICE!!

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 16, 1911.

To the Public:

The Management of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company believes that the public should be advised of the reasons for the present difficulty with the white firemen who left the service of the Company on March 9, 1911.

The railroad is divided into three operating Districts.

The Third District is the one between Chattanooga, Tenn., and Oakdale, Tenn., a distance of 84 miles.

In 1904, before the present Management had charge of the operation of The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway, it was not possible to secure enough white firemen to operate trains between Chattanooga and Oakdale.

Because of the inability to secure the required number of white firemen, the Company was forced to employ negroes as firemen and has had negroes in service constantly as firemen since 1904 on that part of the line between Chattanooga and Oakdale.

The agreement between the Management of The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company and the firemen applies to all firemen.

The Committee representing the white firemen demanded that The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company should within 90 days, discharge from the position as firemen all colored men so employed and to agree that hereafter no negroes shall be employed as firemen.

The Company declined to grant this demand, and, thereupon, the committee representing the white firemen gave notice of their purpose to leave the service of the Company.

The Committee gave this notice to take effect in less than twenty-four hours—in conflict with article 45 of the agreement dated July 1, 1910, which provides that 30 days' written notice shall be given of any purpose to revise or abrogate the agreement.

The Management of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company immediately filed protest against this action, but, although an investigation was promised, no final answer has been given by the committee representing the firemen or by the officers of the firemen's organization.

The Erdman Act provides for mediation between a railroad and its employes, and at the last conference, on March 9th, before the strike order took effect, the committee representing the firemen was urged to consent to mediation.

This was declined, but, as the law provides that either party may make application to the mediators, a telegram was at once sent by the railroad company to Judge Martin A. Knapp (appointed by President Taft as one of the Board of Mediation, Washington, D. C.), requesting him to immediately use his good offices with the firemen to bring about mediation.

Although the Management of The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company has been always willing to accept the services of Judge Knapp as mediator, the officers of the firemen's organization and the committee representing the firemen have declined to accept his services.

The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company has at all times faithfully carried out the provisions of the contract between the Company and the firemen.

Negroes are not employed as locomotive engineers, and the Company will not promote or employ negroes as engineers.

When the white firemen left the service of the Company on March 9th, on less than twenty-four hours' notice it became necessary for the Company to obtain such firemen as could be obtained to move the passenger and freight trains and meet the needs of the public.

The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company has always endeavored to give good service to its patrons and to meet in every way as a common carrier the needs of the public. It is recognized throughout the entire country as a high class railroad, and the Management will appreciate any assistance which can be rendered by the citizens in sections through which The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway runs in restoring the former satisfactory service.

This statement of the situation is made so that all persons interested and the public generally may know the actual conditions.

H. BAKER, General Manager.
